Pirates . . .

Proper explanation is the key to understanding.

A busy kitchen, the reward for a successful teacher.

In Appreciation . . .

Looking around, one finds many friends in our school. One in particular is a warm, friendly person who cares and is eagerly willing to help any student with a problem.

We have set aside these pages in appreciation for all she has done

Thank you Mrs. Dickerson.

Home Economic students learn the basic fundamentals of homemaking.

Mrs. Dickerson checks over the daily agenda.

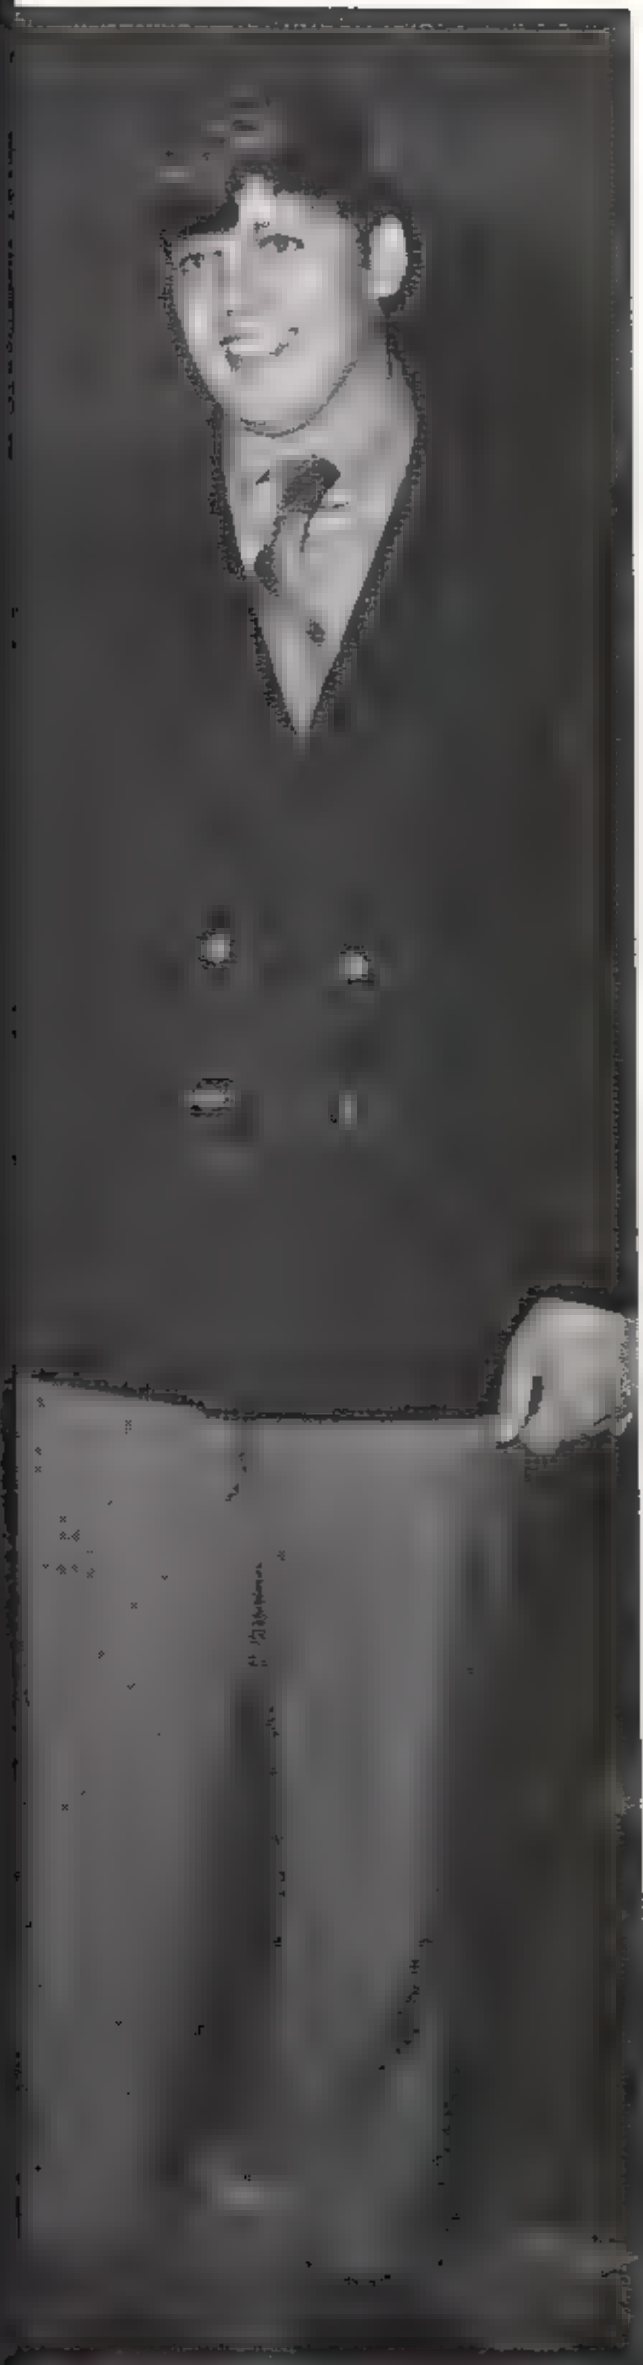

A Time for Everything

Just how shall we live through a year?

Well give yourself a football game, confetti flaked in hair.
A hallway jammed with jubilece,
A senior settled in a chair.
A something year is more than these . . .

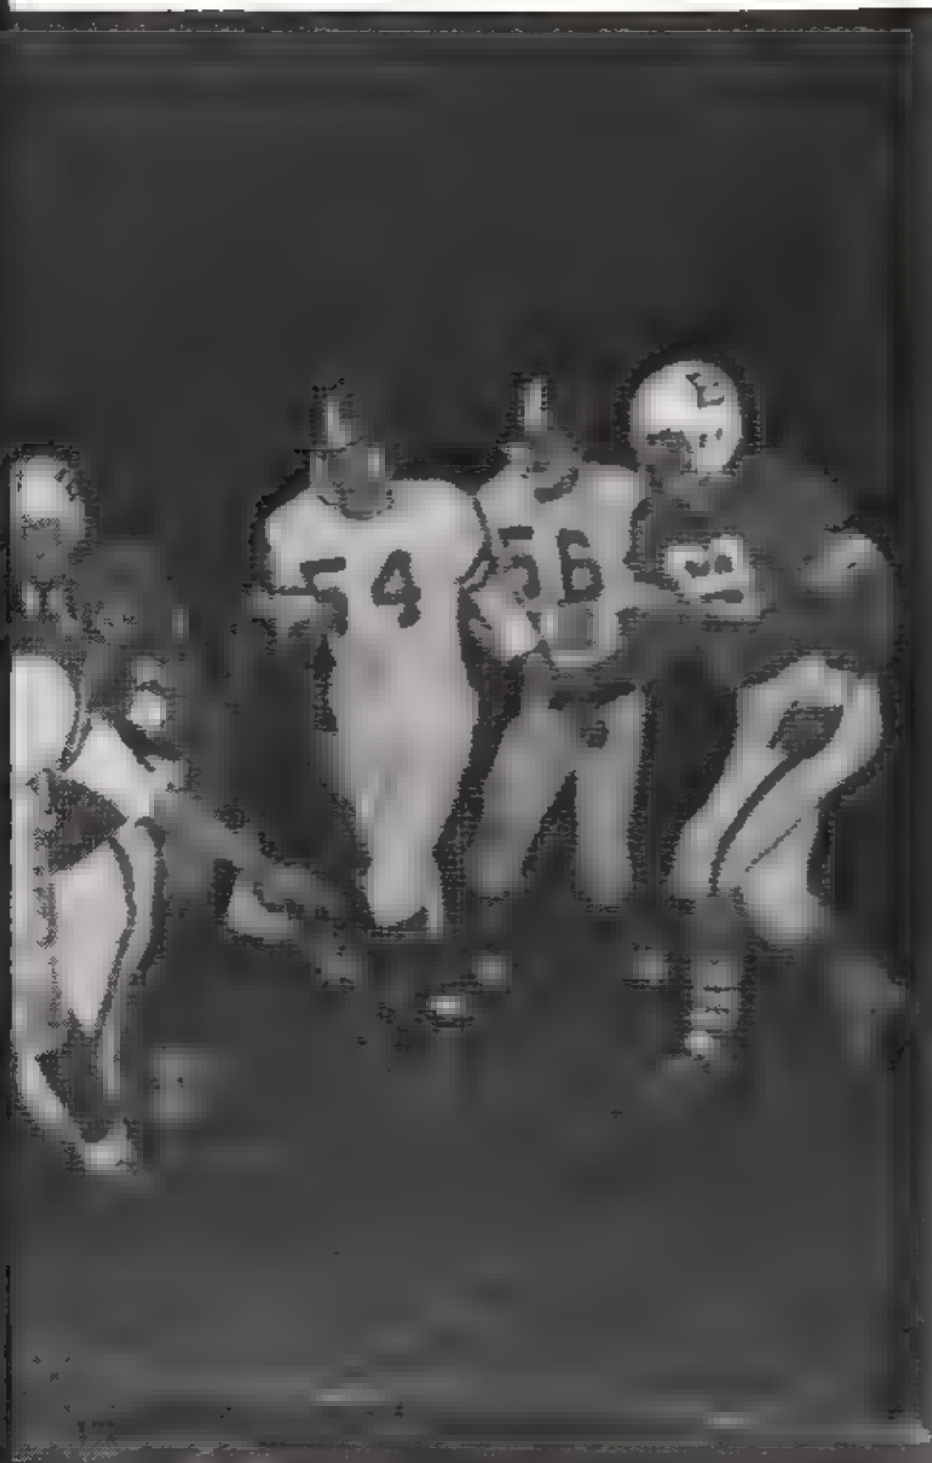

Study and thoughts composed upon an ashcan.
A hand in hand,
A quiet moment with a friend,
An active class with whistles blowing
A searching moment before going.
A special year is all of these . . .
And something more

And Something More . . .

Administration Faculty and Curriculum

Mr. Ash stops his work to greet a friend.

A Firm, but Helping Hand

Mr. Wade takes time out for thought.

Mr. Wade glances over some papers.

The two men responsible for keeping our school running smoothly are Mr. Robert Ash, Superintendent, and our Principal, Mr. Warren Wade. These two men have welded Pinckney's school system into a program that provides an educational challenge and produces capable students.

Assisting them in their work is Assistant Principal, Mr. Richard McCloskey, who has been a new addition to our school this past year. Mr. McCloskey has been an aid to both the administration and the students by being there when he was needed.

Mr. Ash begins another day with a phone call.

A great help to the students this year has been Mr. McCloskey.

As part of the Pinckney High School Administration, our secretaries play an important part. They aid the faculty and students.

In the main office are two hard working secretaries. Mrs. Molly Janowski takes care of student problems and also works in the book store. Mrs. Ruth Ann Milam helps Mr. Wade by typing and answering the telephone.

In the Superintendent's office there is Mrs. JoAnn Matteson working as Mr. Ash's secretary. Mrs. Jean Wludyka manages the payroll for the teachers and keeps money for student funds.

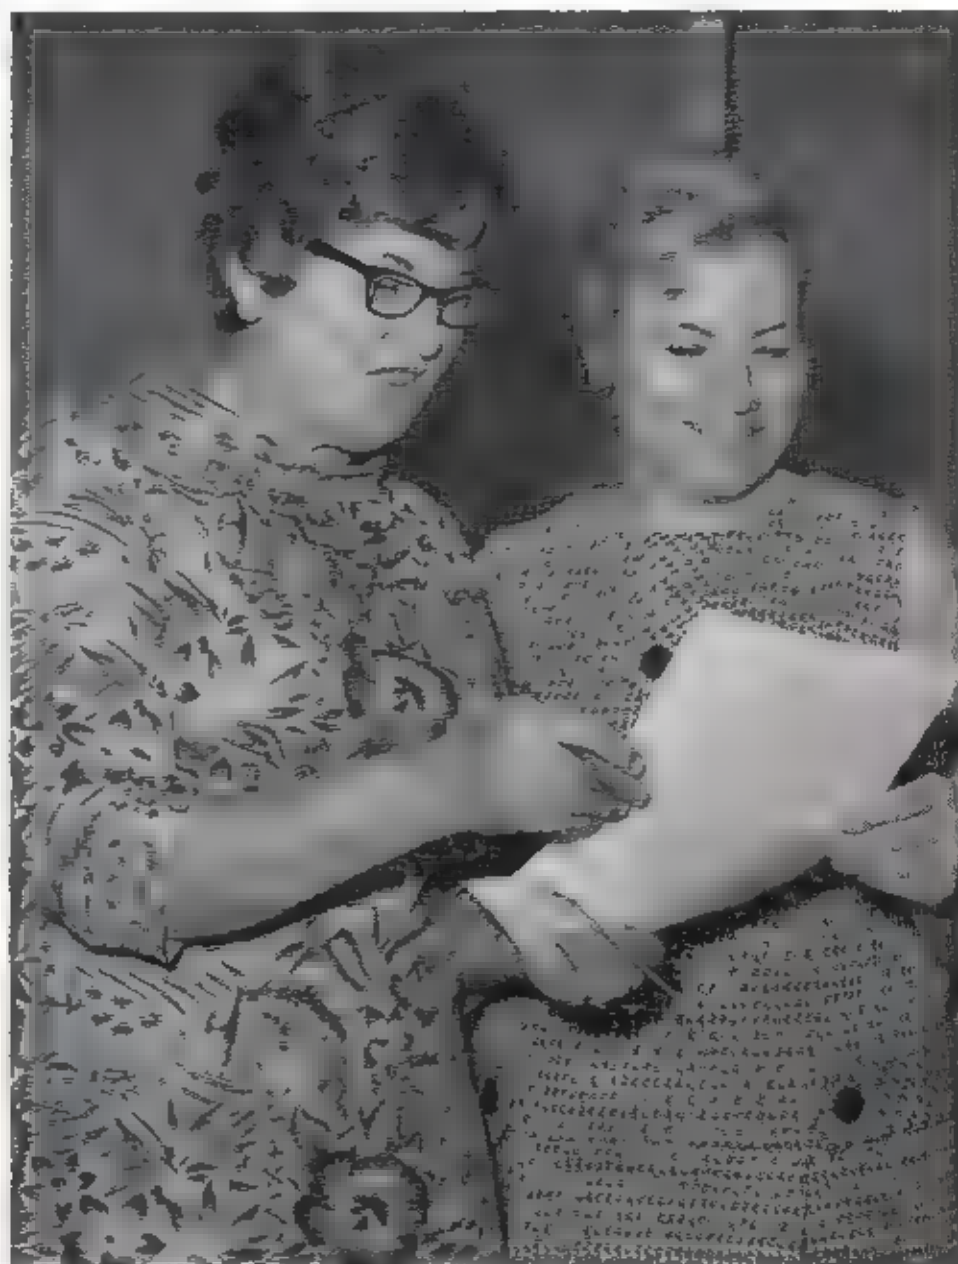

Mrs. Matteson finishes another day.

Keeping Our School

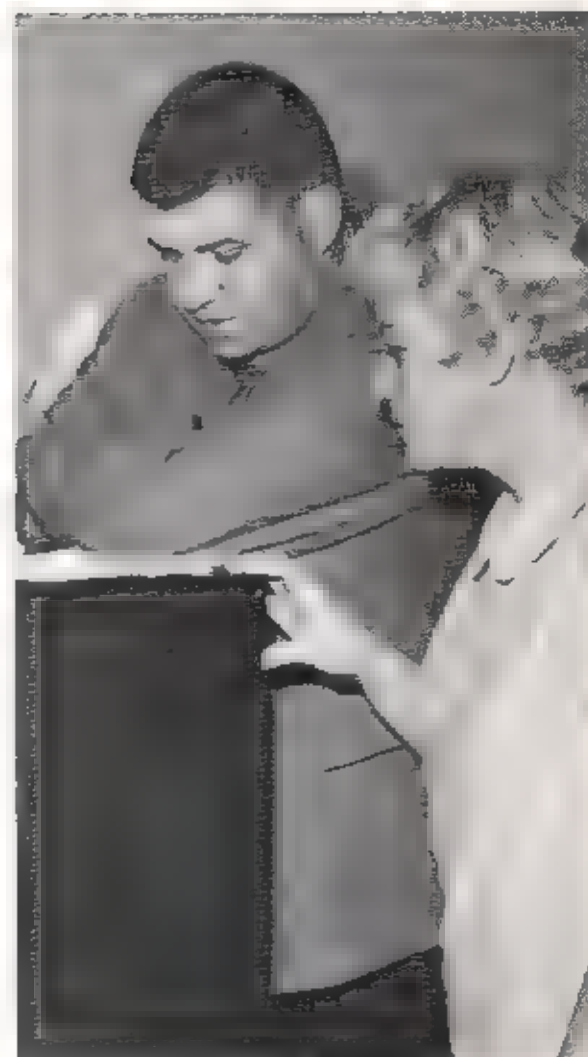

Mrs. Matteson concentrates on her daily jobs.

Molly and Mrs. Milam make one of their daily office decisions.

Molly performs one of her many tasks.

Mr. McCloskey and Mrs. Milam discuss office business.

on an Even Keel

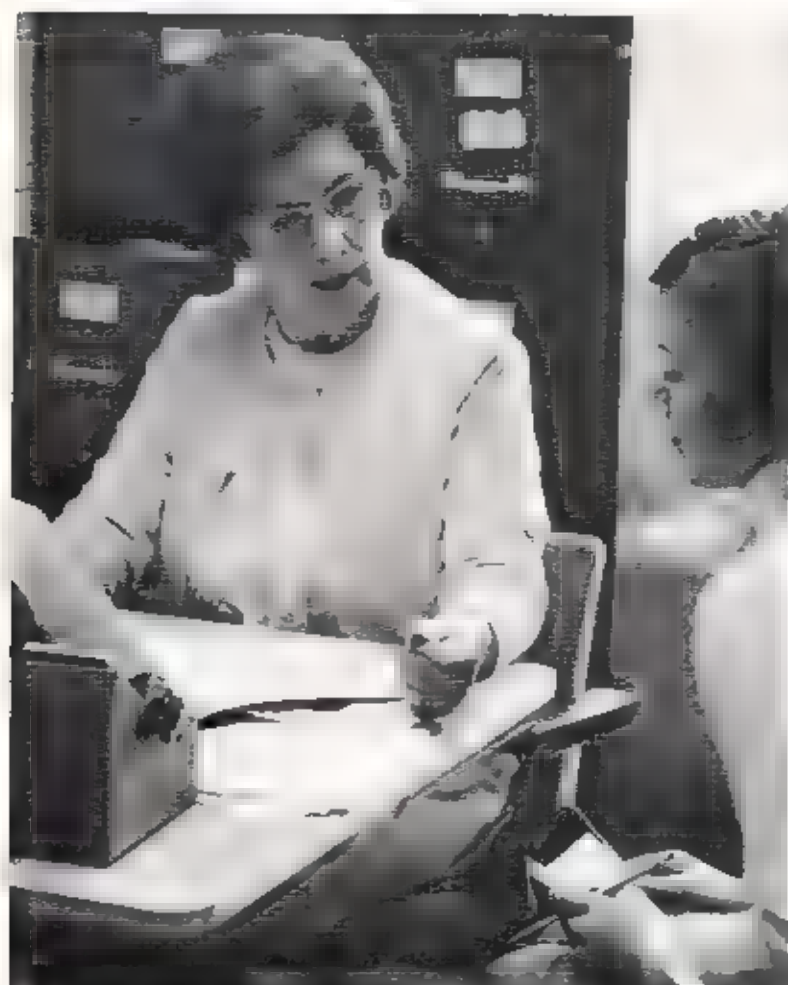

Mrs. Wludyka works busily making out pay checks.

The people we students turn to when a question arises about college or just plain ordinary life are our three counselors, Mrs. Wilhelmina Swarthout, Mrs. Joyce Sherwin, and Mr. Welton Chamberlain. Mr. Chamberlain serves as the junior and senior class counselor; Mrs. Swarthout supervises freshman and sophomore problems; while Mrs. Sherwin concentrates her counseling service mainly to the juniors.

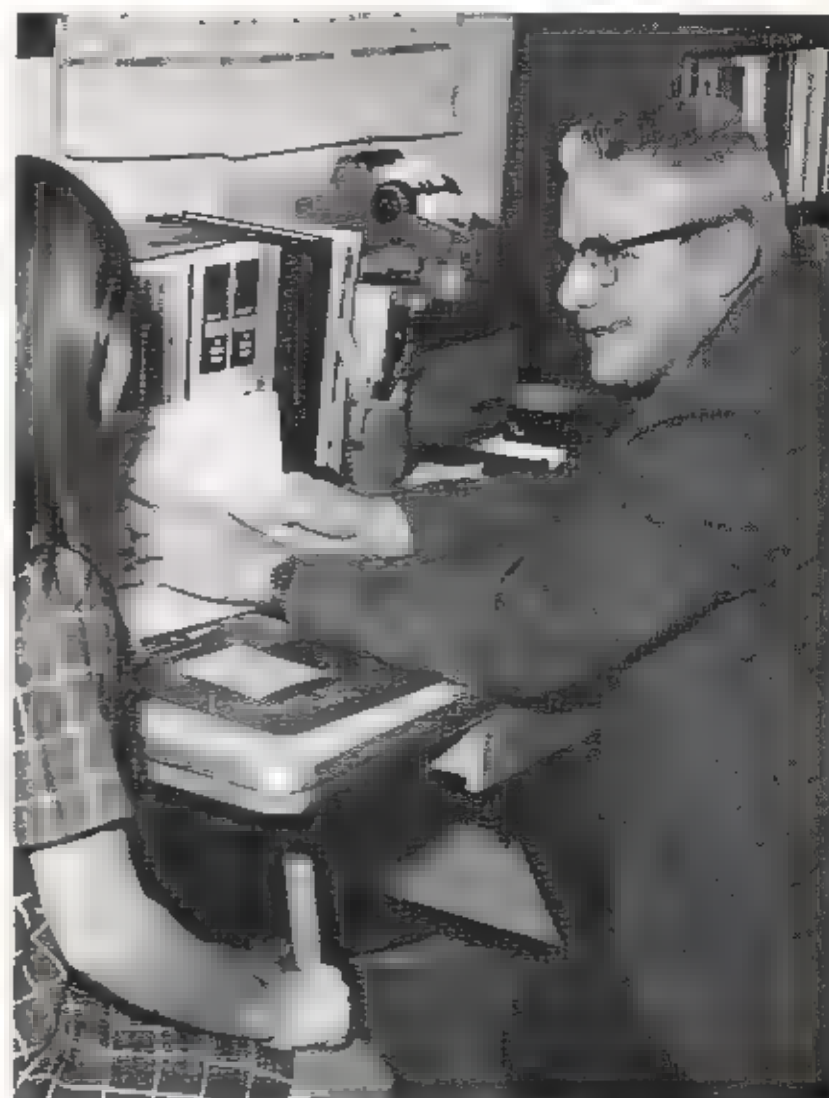

Mr. Chamberlain, Mrs. Swarthout and Mrs. Sherwin talk over counseling problems.

Guidance Through

Mrs. Swarthout helps Kim Cantwell set up her schedule.

Mr. Chamberlain and Rosa Yoder discuss college plans.

Mr. Chamberlain relaxes and waits for the next student to arrive.

Understanding

Mrs. Swarthout is always ready to assist you with a smile.

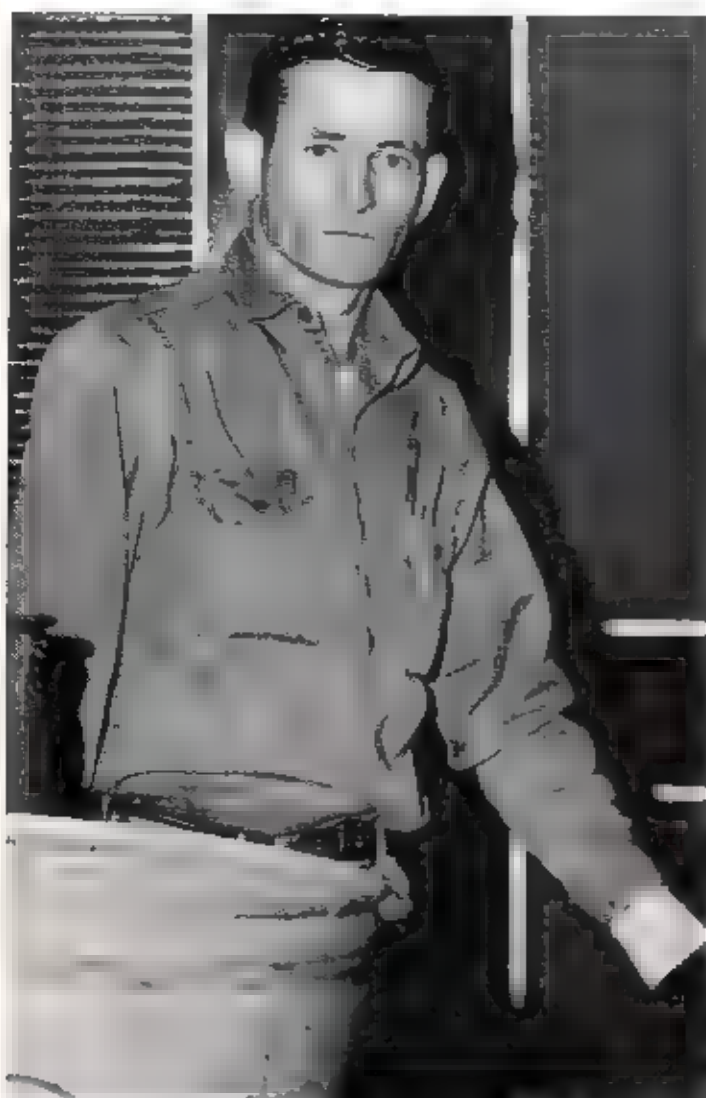

Mrs. Sherwin is a new member of the counseling staff this year.

Whenever you want to know what's for lunch, just ask Mrs. Abney Mrs. Rose, Mrs. Swarthout, Mrs. Van Slambrooke, Mrs. Bottke, Mrs. Amburgey, and Mrs. Down.

People Behind the Scenes

You'll see Mr. Nichols, working hard to keep our school clean.

Head custodian, Mr. Black, is stopped on one of his many errands in school.

Mrs. Black pauses before going on to her next job.

One person who does a lot to keep our school clean is Mr. Russell.

Mr. Cates, another custodian, keeps our halls uncluttered.

People behind the scenes in our school are the cooks, who provide us with nutritious lunches, our bus drivers who get us to school on time in the morning, and the custodians who you don't often see in the halls until the 2:15 rush is over. Without these people adding their personal touches, Pinckney High School would not run as smoothly as it does.

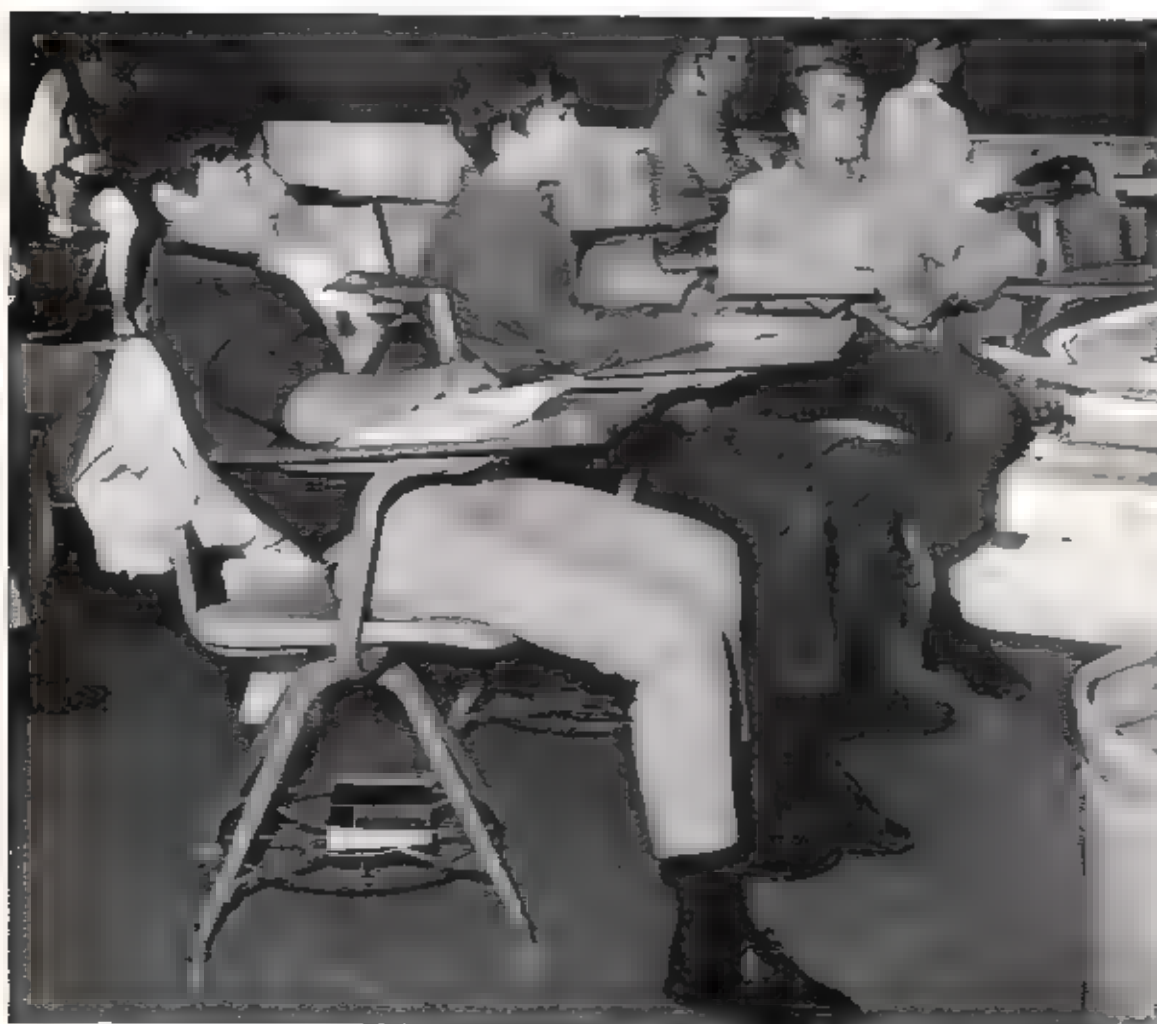

Meet the bus drivers (standing) Mrs. Gaspar, Mandy DeBar, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Neuman, Mrs. Hollister, Mrs. Baughn, Mr. Shinnault, Mr. Bruer, Bus Coordinator, and Mr. Haltom, Bus mechanic. (Sitting) Mrs. Tepatti, Mrs. Potter, Mrs. Chulds, and Mrs. Stratton. (Not pictured) Mrs. McGinn, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Krahn, Mrs. Michael, Mrs. Dotts, Mrs. Debor, Mrs. Douglas, Mr. VanRaden, Mrs. Reynolds, Mr. Brown, Mrs. DeMichael, and Mr. Singer.

Communication Means English

With three new members added to the staff this year, the English Department is rapidly taking on a new image. New courses are being offered to supplement traditional courses. It is hoped that every student will be able to locate his own area of interest in the field of English. English has too long been thought of as the "other" subject. We hope after this year that it is referred to as a subject to be taken, not avoided.

Mrs. Schember smiles as she collects a homework paper from Bill Meyers.

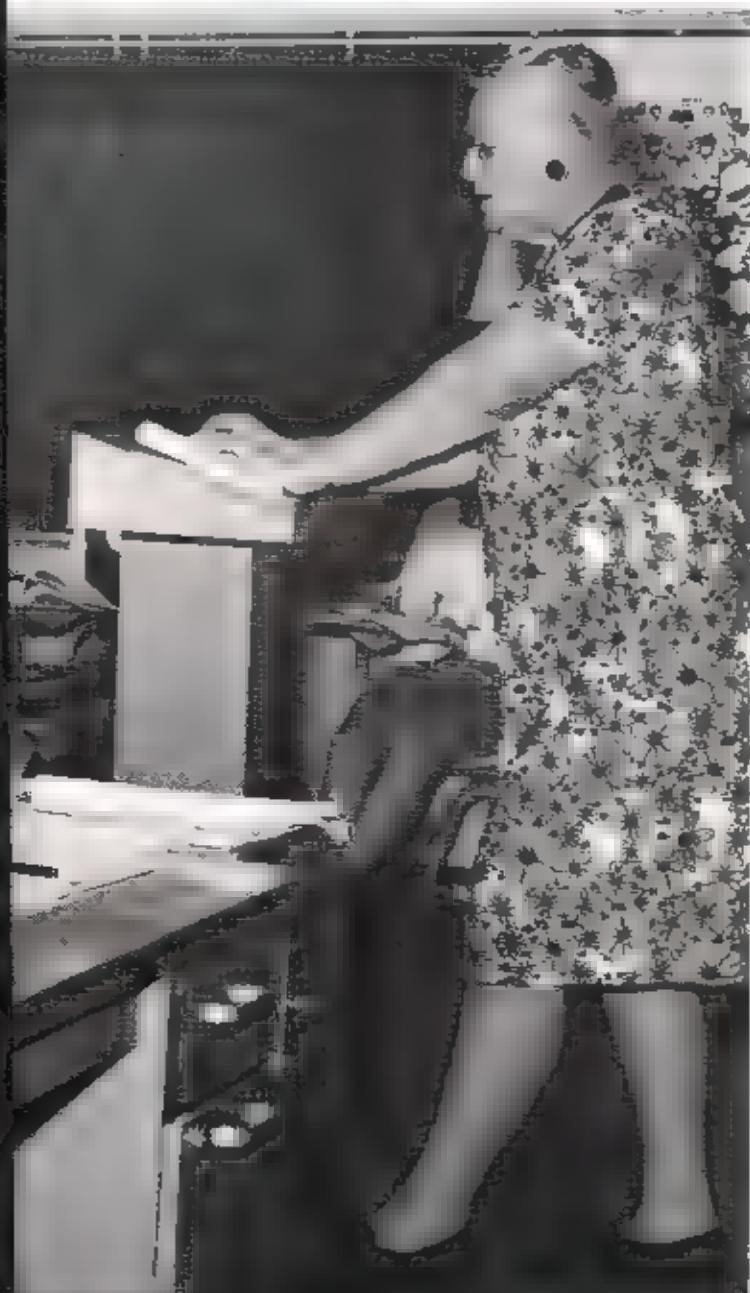

Larry Curtis, Gary Pettis, and Dave Dunstan wonder what's for English today, Mark Twain or Charles Dickens?

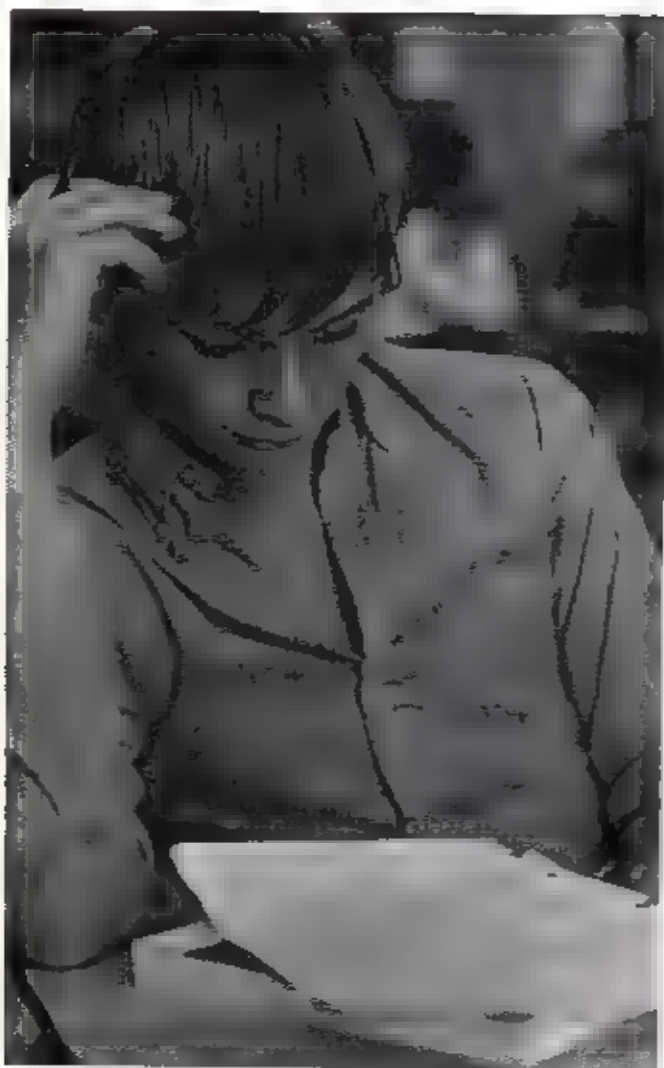

Mr. Hanson contemplates the problems of teaching English.

Mrs. Miller communicates with her class through poetry

Mrs. Dennis smiles as she sees a student working hard on his homework.

Steve Barker engrosses himself in his studies.

Mr. Dunn gives his students a smile of satisfaction.

Mrs. Osburn helps Dave Shipley in journalism.

And Foreign Languages

Spanish, along with its teacher, Mrs. Sue Osburn, were added to Pinckney's Foreign Language Department this year. Mr. Robert Dunn continues to teach French. With the help of these two languages, we can better communicate and understand the people of our shrinking world.

Mr. Dunn, along with his students, takes time out for a challenging game of scrabble.

Mr. Dunn helps close the communication gap through French.

Mrs. Osburn demonstrates how to translate Spanish.

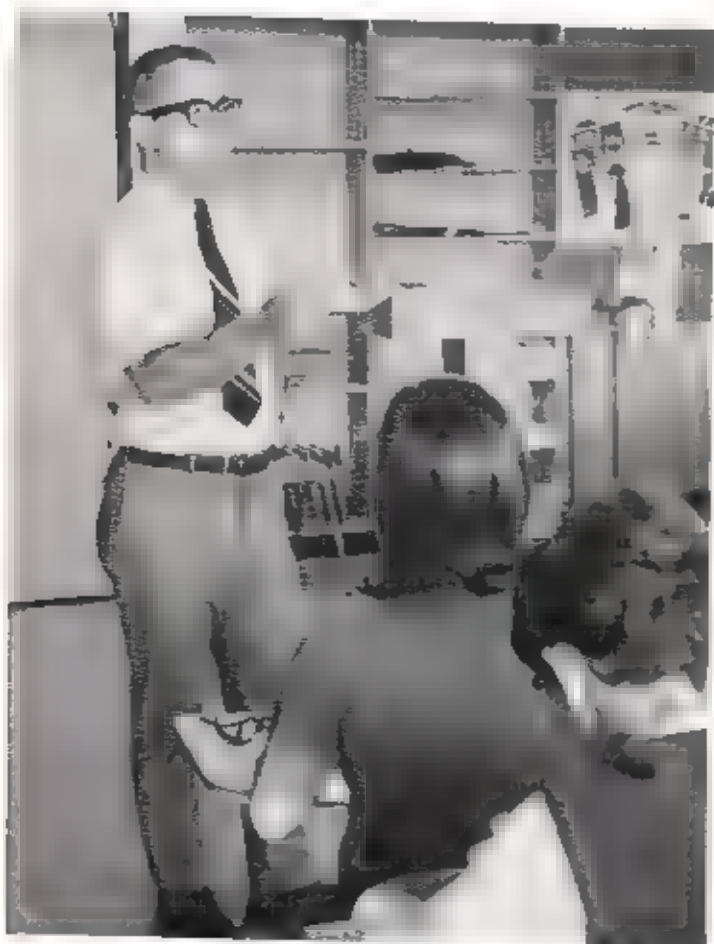

Mr. Mantyck assists Cathy Swanson on a homework assignment.

Mr. Wicker jokes with a student during class.

A Preparation for

Mr. Hand explains an assignment.

Mr. Carpenter describes to his class our different levels in society.

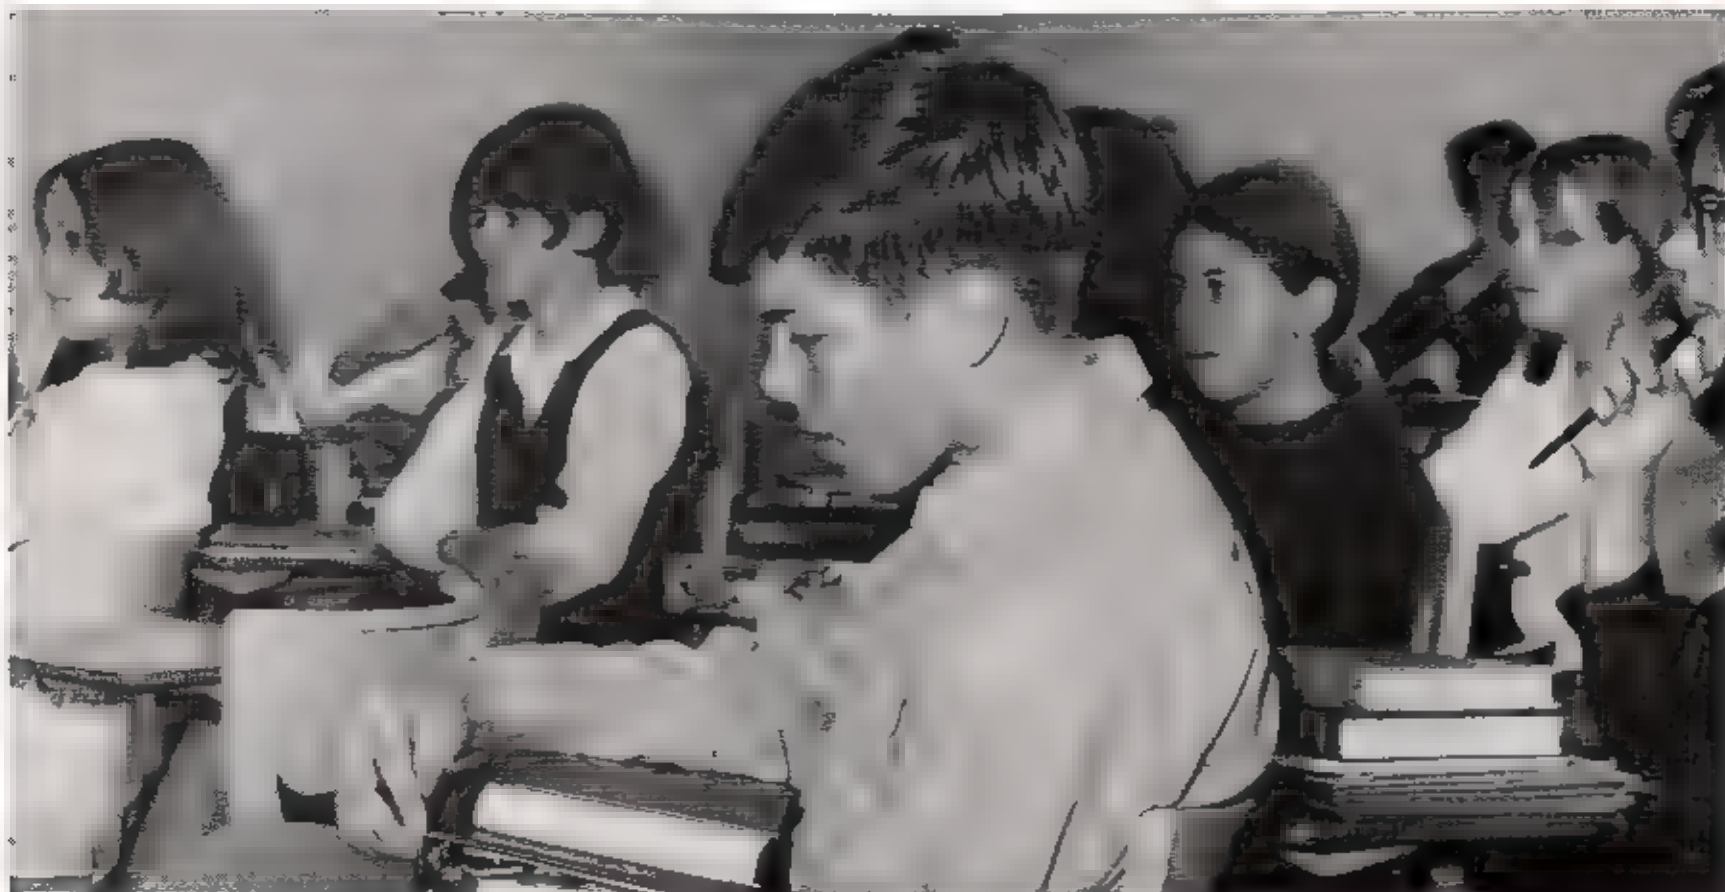

An interesting question is asked by a student and Mr. Wilson listens with a smile

The Social Science courses at P.H.S. encourage each student to be able to adjust better to life. With this in mind, courses are built around student needs which are always in transition.

New courses have been established (the Foreign Affairs section of Government, American Cultures, and 20th Century History) in addition to ones previously offered.

the Future

Steve Lawrence and his classmates listen to a World Geography lecture.

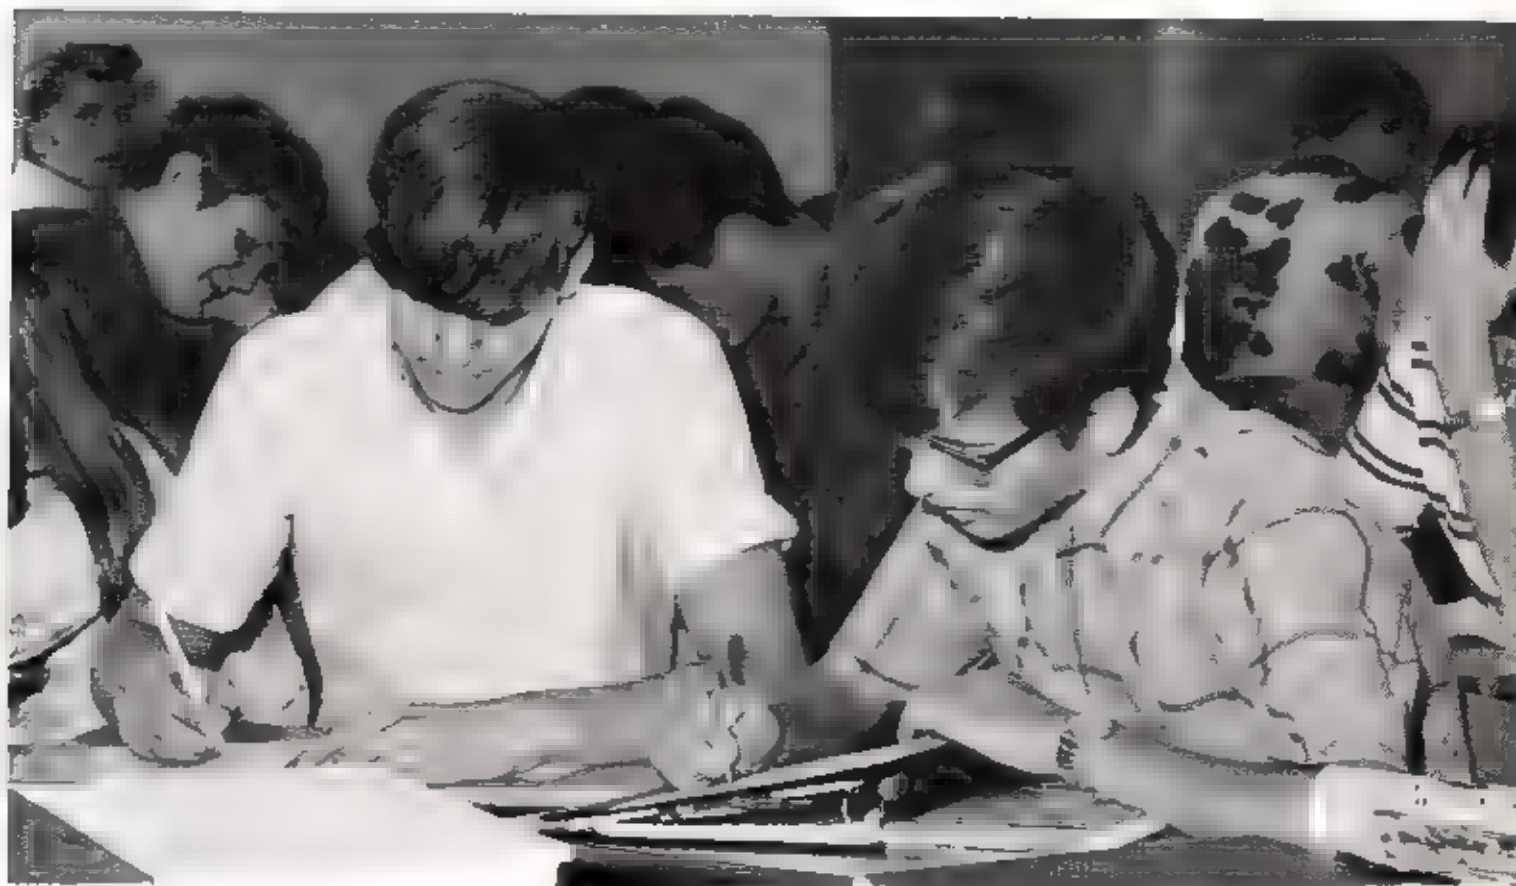

Miss Keenan responds to a student's question before resuming her reading.

Mrs. Sherwin does research for a U. S. History class.

And a better Understanding

Don Lounsberry and Steve Morse work hard to get their assignment in on time

Mr. Carpenter adjusts his glasses as the bell rings to end another day.

In order to survive in a world of changing times, one must understand himself and his environment.

The purpose of our Social Science courses is to prepare each student to meet problems which may occur on any social level.

of our World

Mrs. Sherwin's first hour Government class busily works.

The science courses at Pinckney help our students toward a better understanding of the environment in which we live and also help them to gain a sound perspective of the basic laws of nature.

These courses include Chemistry, Physics, Biology, Physiology, Conservation, General Science, and Physical Science

Mr. McCauley explains a problem in his Physics class.

Discovery Through

Mr. Dunn listens to Bill Meyer's explanation.

Mr. Davis lectures to his Biology class on cell reproduction.

Mr. Nurnberger silences his class with a wave of his hand.

Students participate in a lab experiment

Exploration

Foo maintains discipline in his Physical Science class.

Mrs. Young looks on as Terry Trumbell and Noel Cooke complete their homework assignments.

Mathematics Creates

Mrs. Mantyck talks to her geometry class about their test grades.

Mr. Reader interprets a math problem for his confused class.

Math has always been considered one of the three R's.

A full year course of Modern Math at Pinckney has helped considerably to change this feeling.

Besides this innovation, the current mathematics curriculum offers a variety of courses ranging from Remedial Math to beginning Calculus, hopefully challenging each student to reach beyond himself.

Logical Thinkers

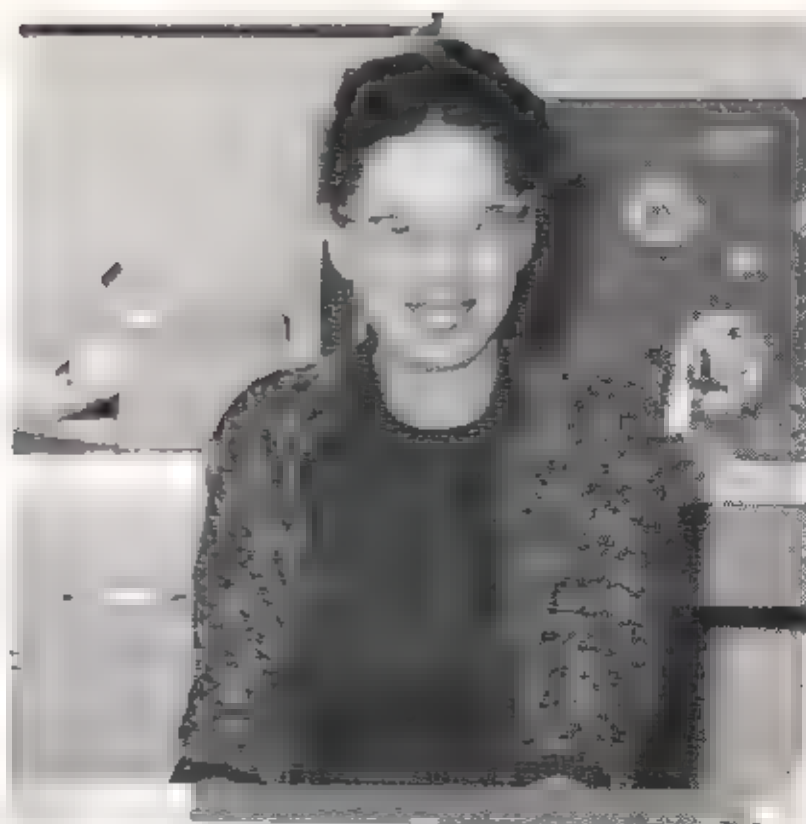

Mr. Wicker explains a math problem to a Freshman.

Learning Through The Creative Arts

Although Home Economics and Art are non-academic courses, they provide a way for students to express themselves in original and often times unusual ways.

From dabbling out a water color to stirring batter with a spoon, the students learn to use their hands and provide a very personal kind of satisfaction.

Mike London demonstrates some of his talent.

Home Economics teaches girls to be competent homemakers.

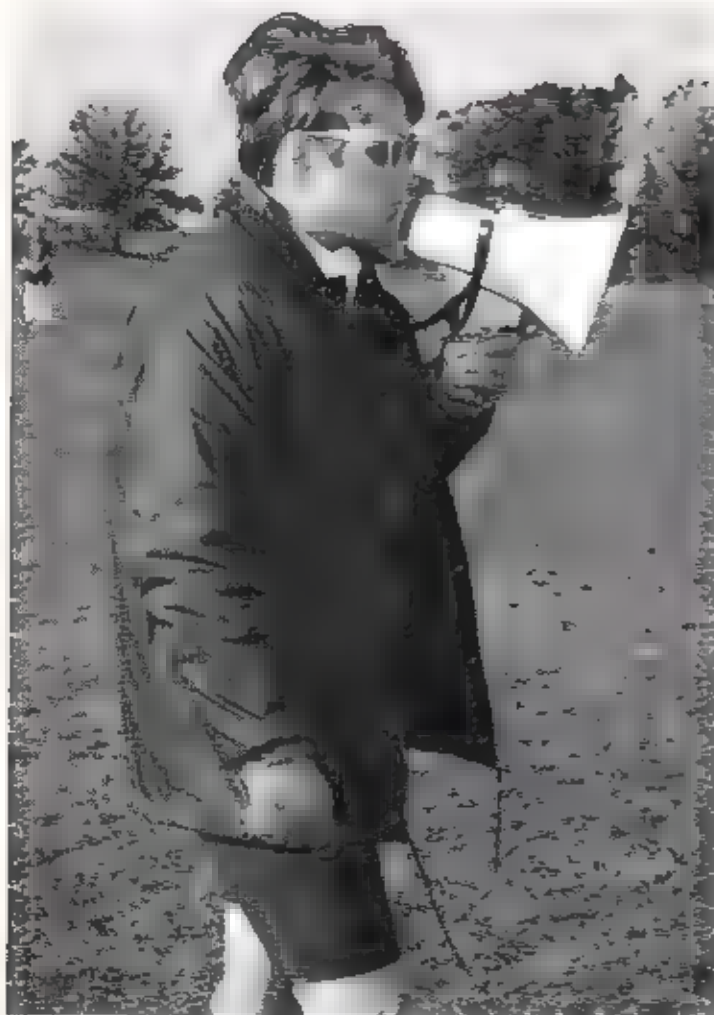

Artists at work Donna Vasely and Colleen O'dwyer.

Sewing is an art mastered by many in Home Economics.

...Mrs. Dickerson explains the purpose of the self-evaluation.

Miss Basco calls fouls during a field hockey game.

Miss Basco gives pointers to her Sophomore Physical Education class for a better field hockey game.

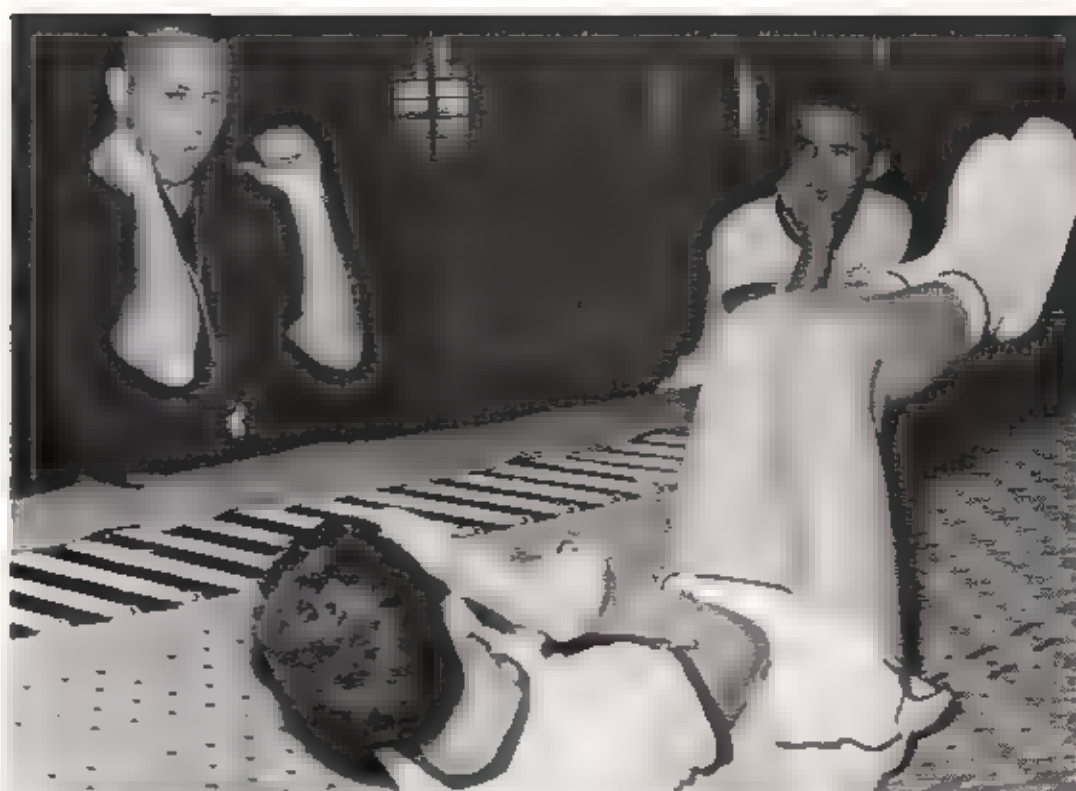

Developing

Mr. Lincoln gets ready to time a 50 yard dash.

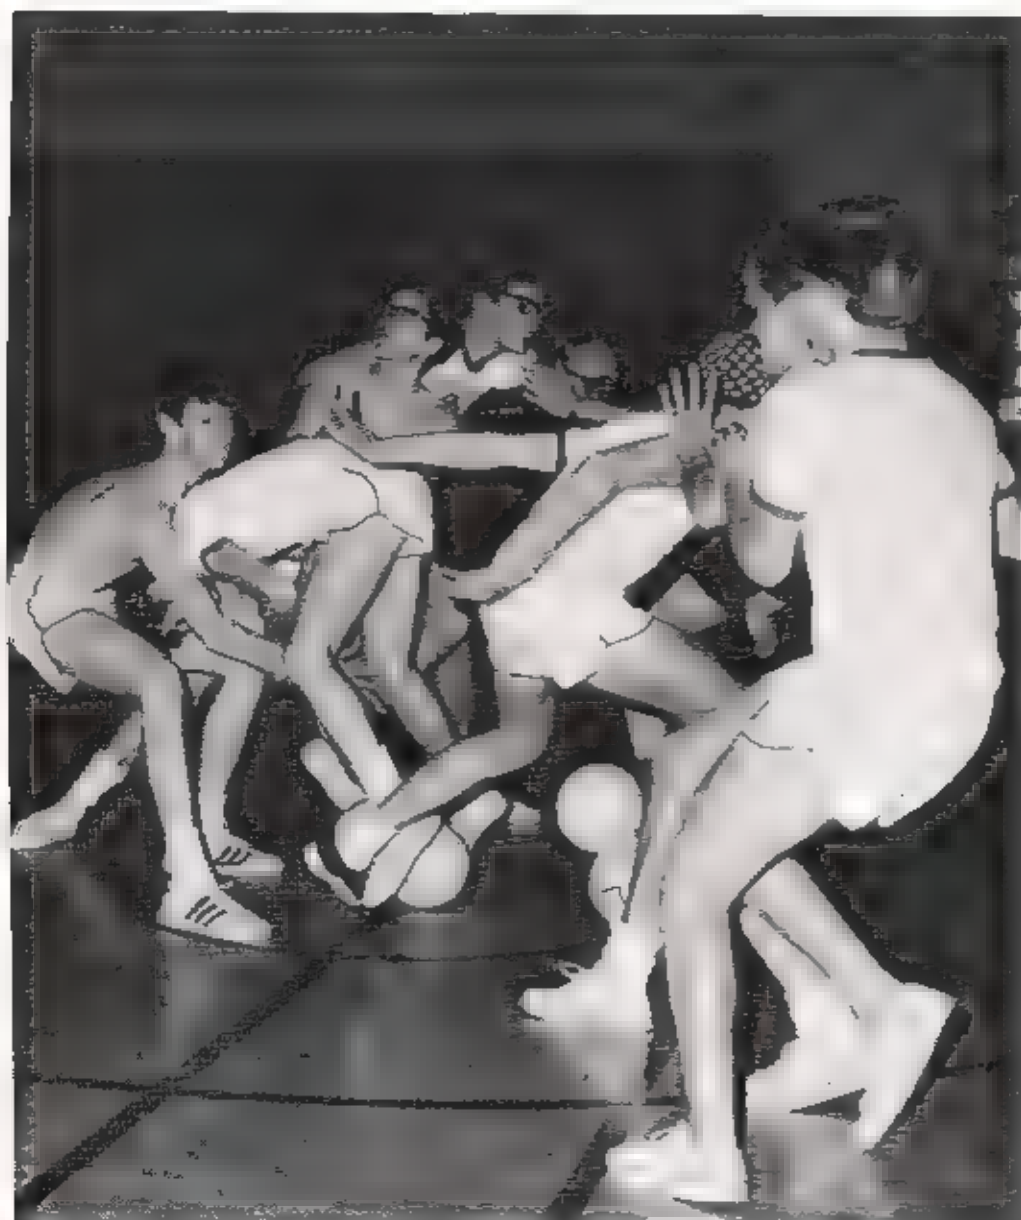

Mr. Wilson officiates a Slaughter Ball game

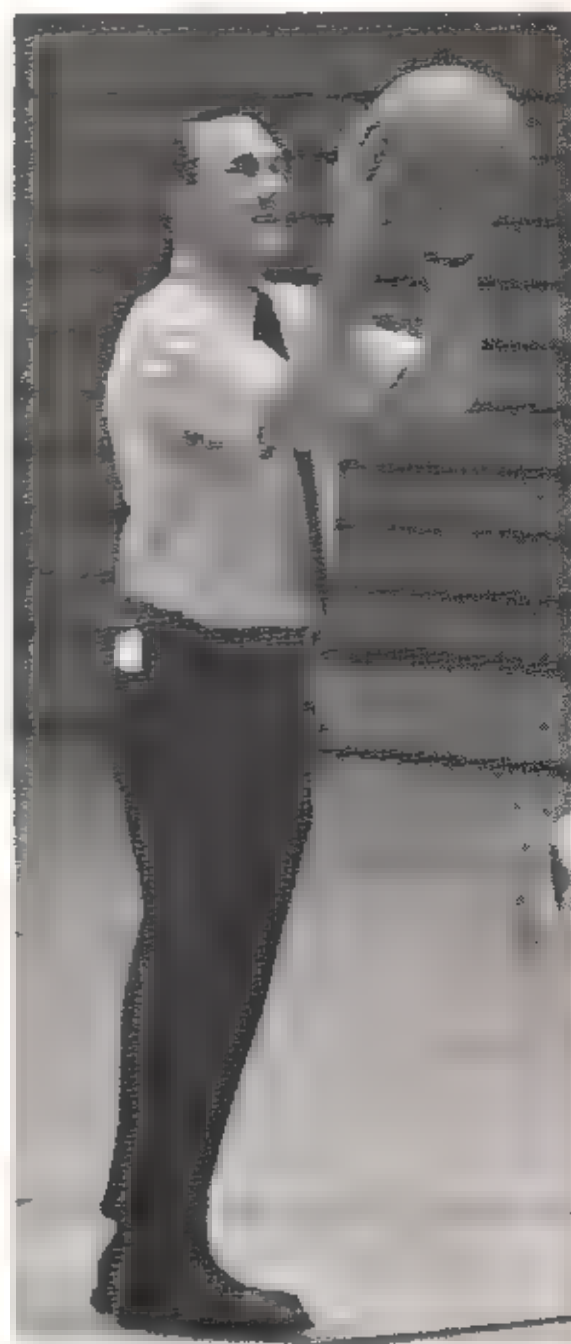

In order to have a safe class, Mr. Lincoln teaches the many skills of the trampoline.

Physical Fitness

THAT'S called Slaughter Ball!

Mr. Nurnberger demonstrates a foul shot.

Mrs. Rhodes dictates to her Shorthand I class.

Personal Typing aids a student in a future career.

Competition in the Business World

The wide variety of business courses offered gives the student a base from which he may build to reach the peak of achievement in the business field.

Mrs. Rhodes Office Practice technique

Mr. Nurnberger helps a student in doubt.

Mr. Crumback teaches the basic elements of bookkeeping.

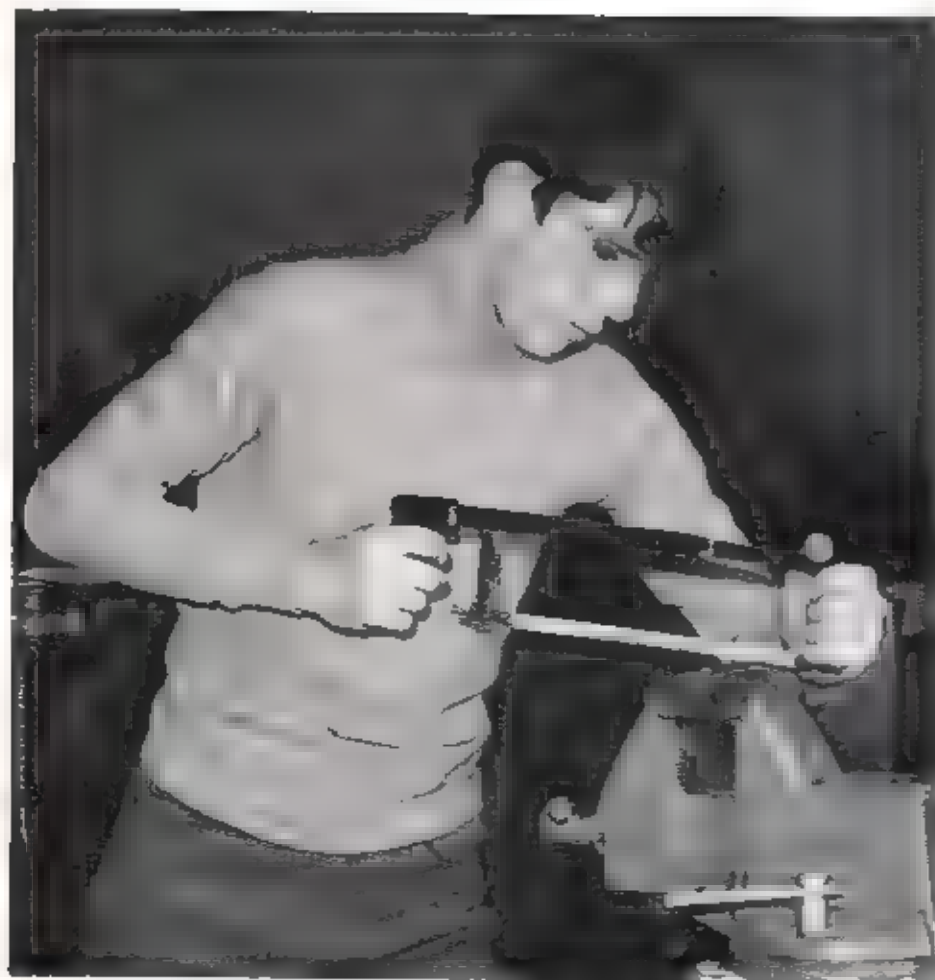

The Industrial Arts courses available to the students this year have increased considerably from the previous year. These include advanced courses, and new courses are being offered.

The new instructors, Mr. Robert Ash and Mr. John Burg, are preparing the student for a better understanding of a future trade.

Don Lounsberry, Bob Singer, and Mike Wylie participate in shop class.

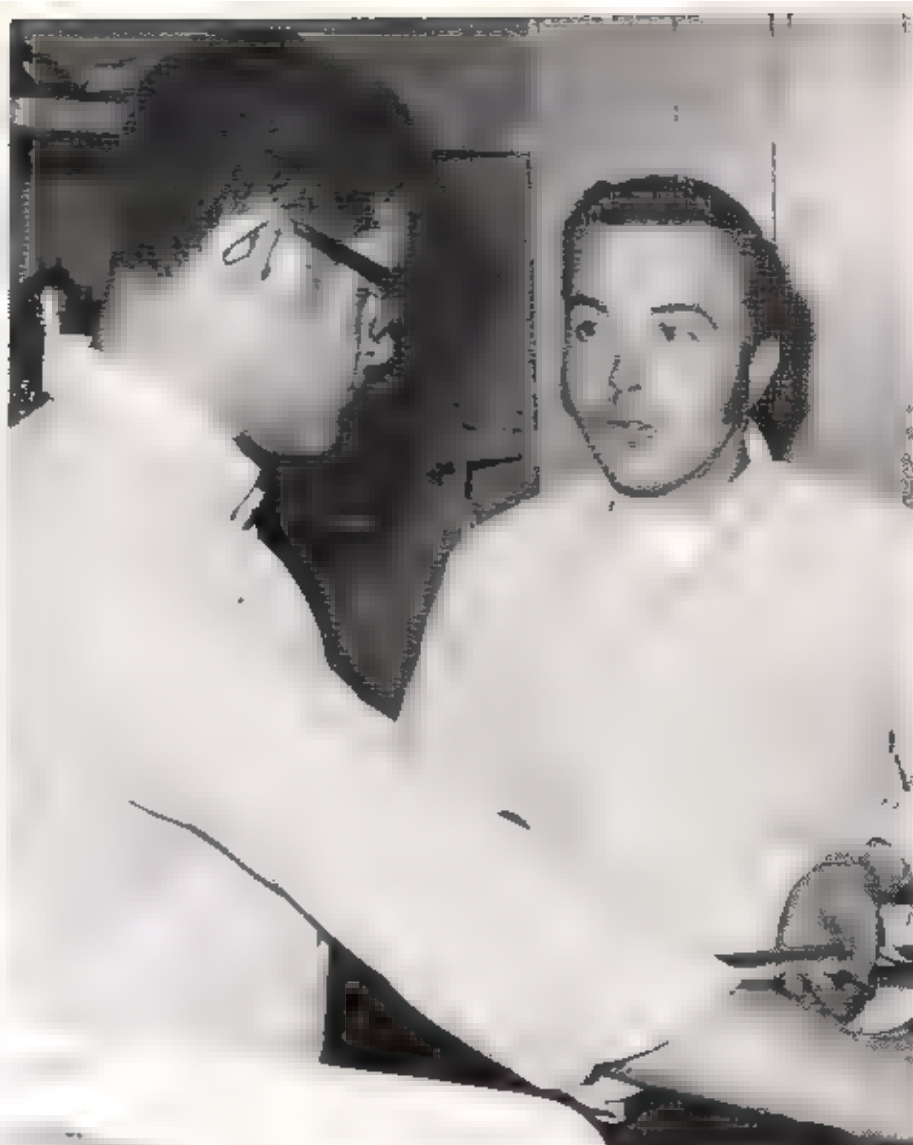

Learning

Tony O'Connor works diligently at his project.

Mr. Ash looks on as Steve Barker attempts a drafting problem.

Mr. Burg shows Dudley West different techniques used in shop.

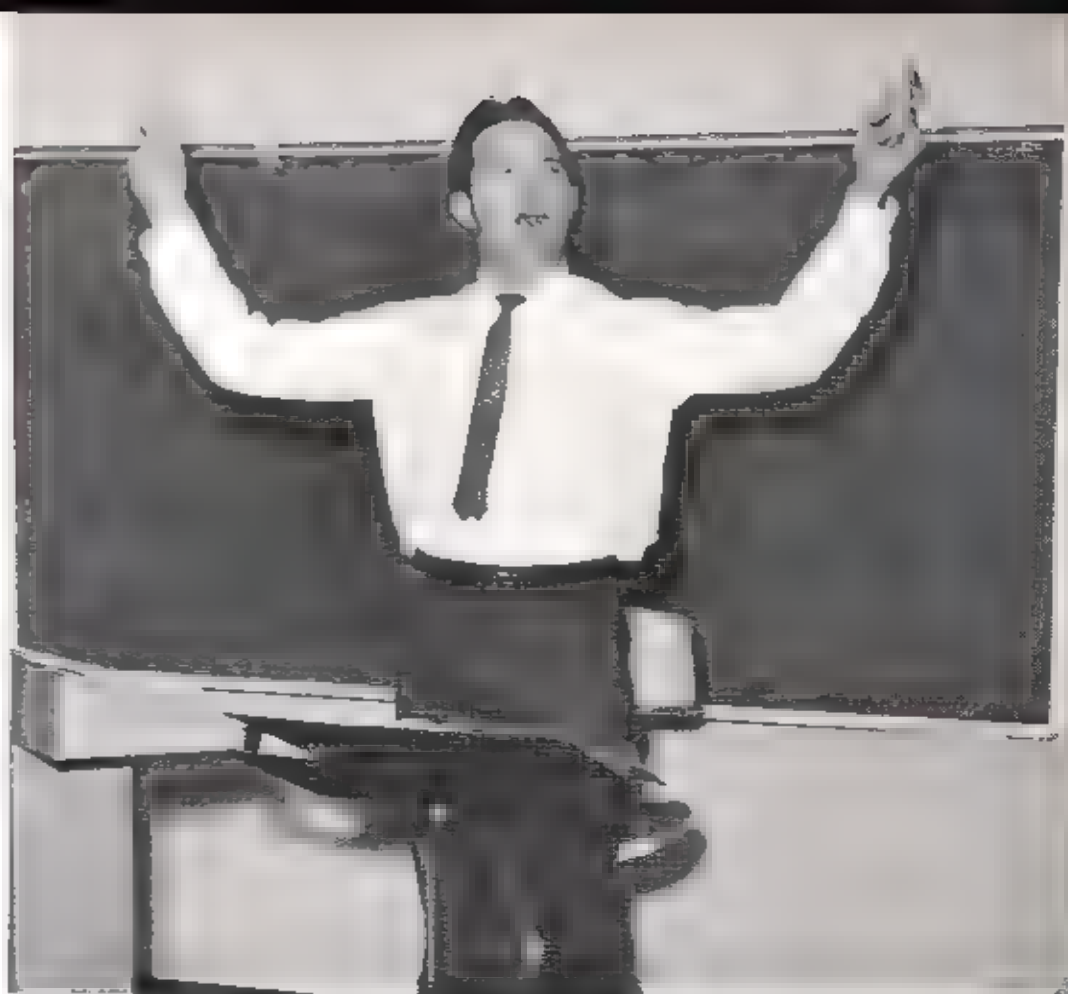

Through Experience

Jack Sutor concentrates on a drafting problem.

Band

Band and Chorus are among the favorite non-academic courses. They provide an opportune time for the student to express himself in music and verse.

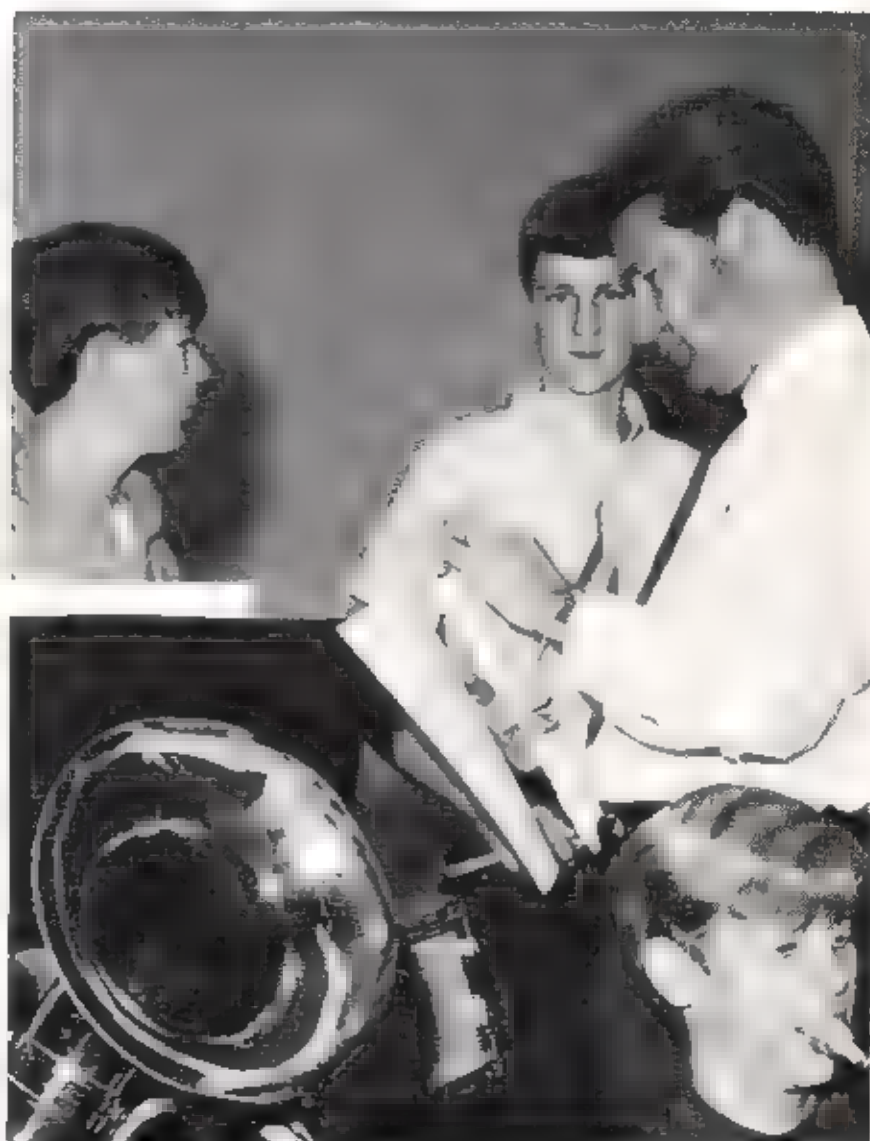

Mr. Napier directs the band in a musical selection.

For Meaningful

The band takes a break between numbers.

Mr. Napier takes time out to help a student

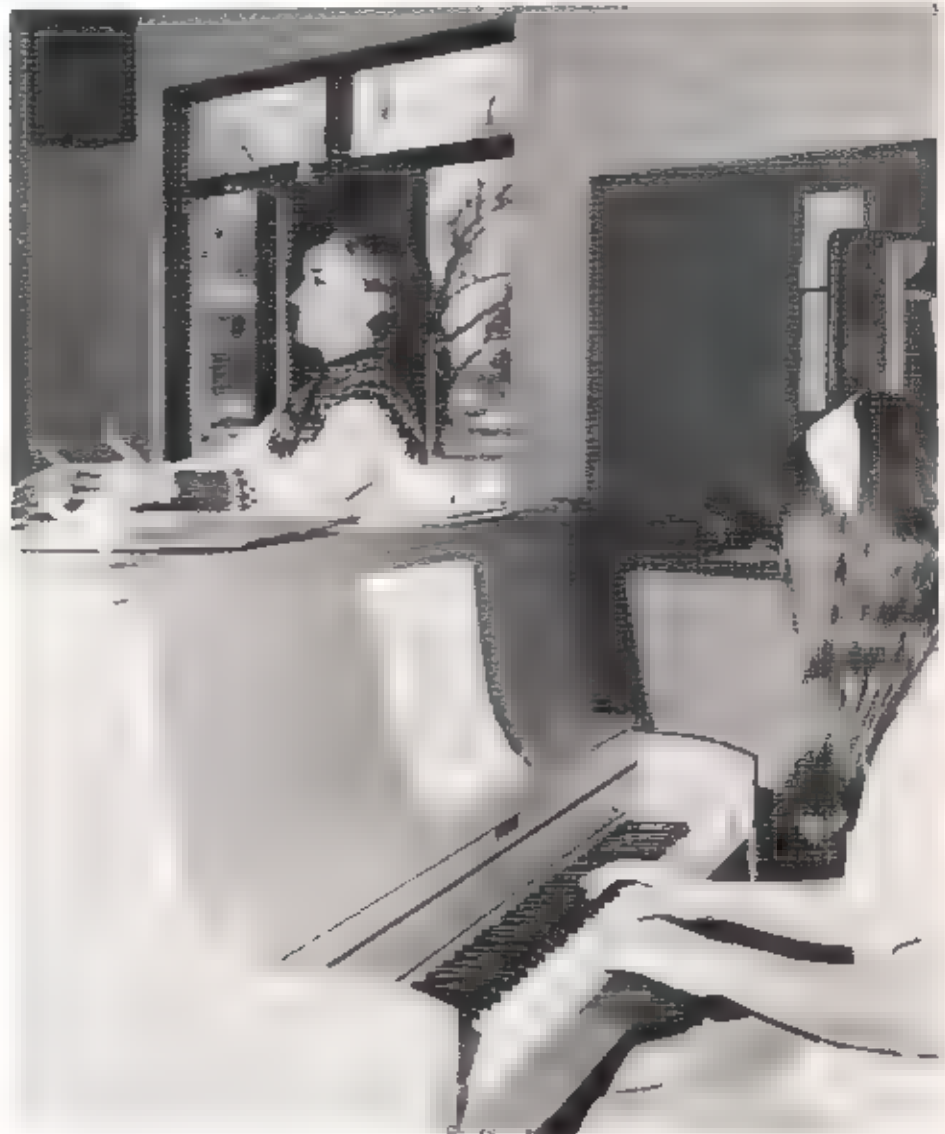

The chorus sings while Mrs. Swanson leads them.

Expression

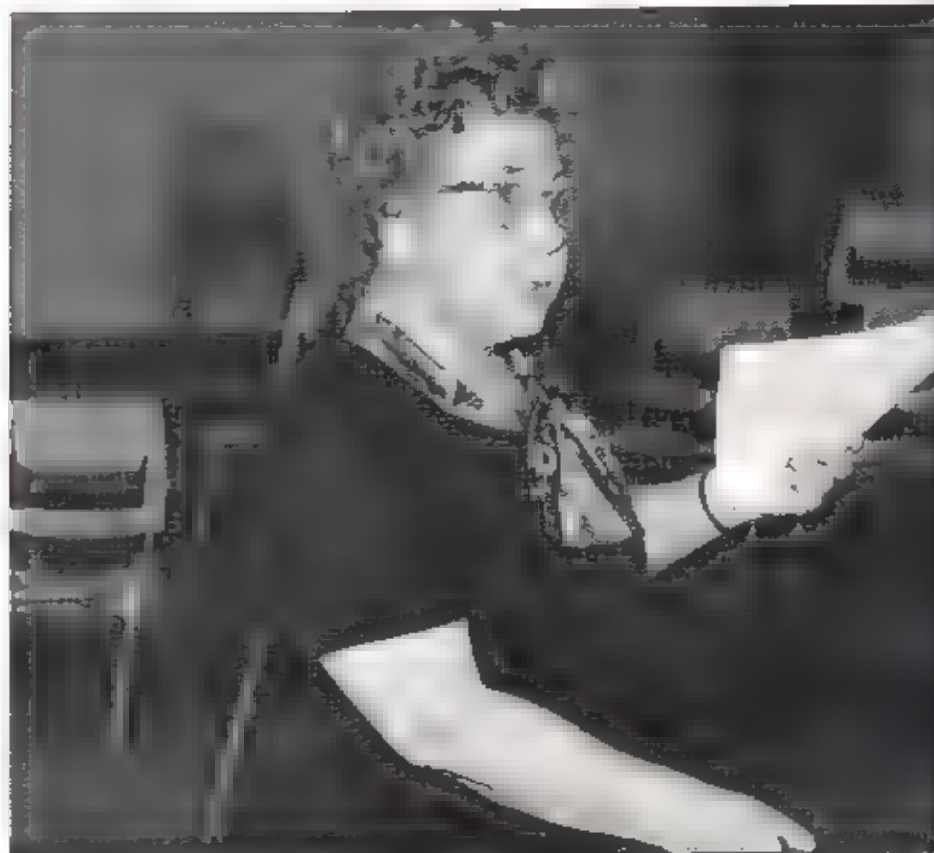

Mrs. Swanson is our new chorus teacher this year.

Mrs. Swanson demonstrates how to project your voice.

Special Education, taught by a patient instructor, Mrs. Helen Miller, is a class offered to students to give them a better understanding of the basis of a fine education.

Mrs. Miller collects today's assignments.

Basic Skills

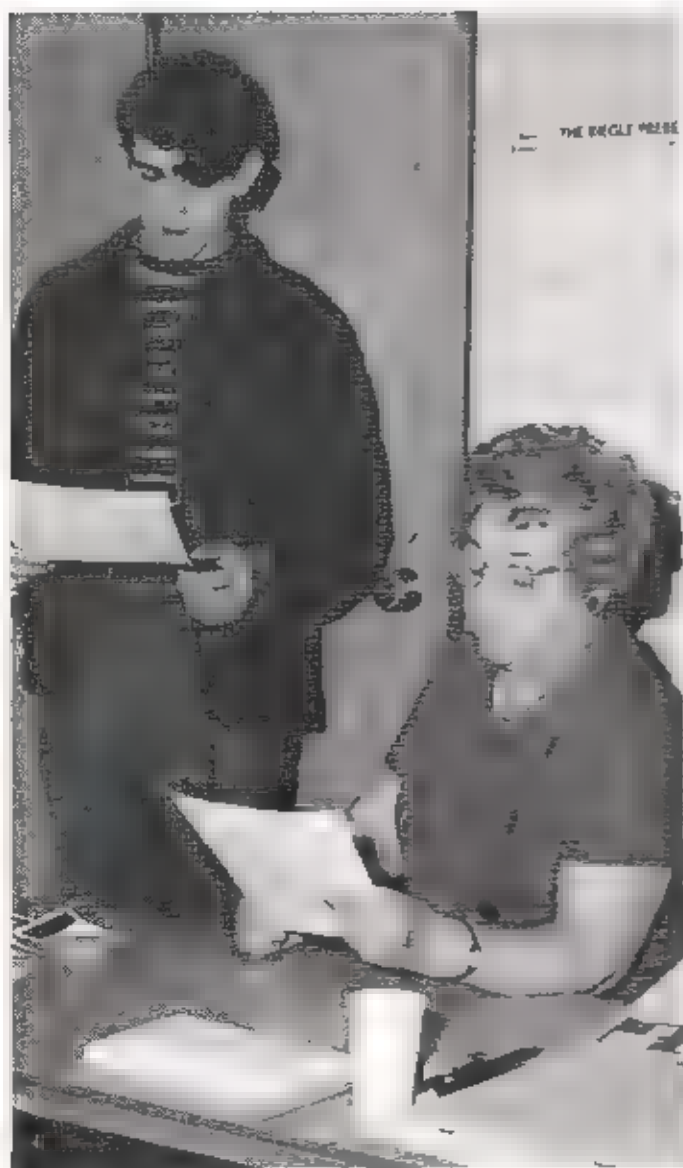

Mrs. Miller teaches the basic fundamentals.

Mrs. Miller looks over a student's work.

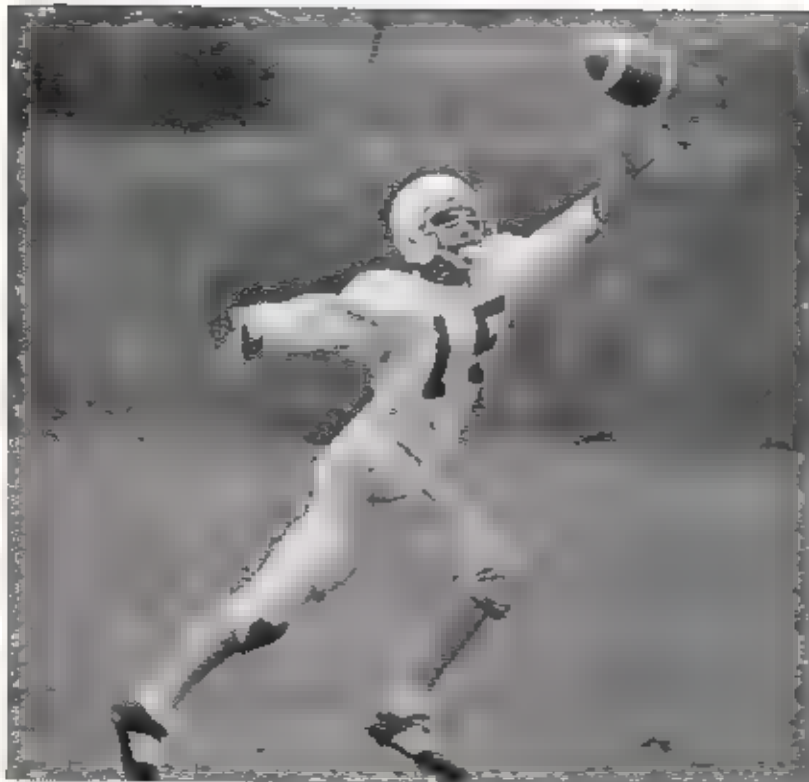

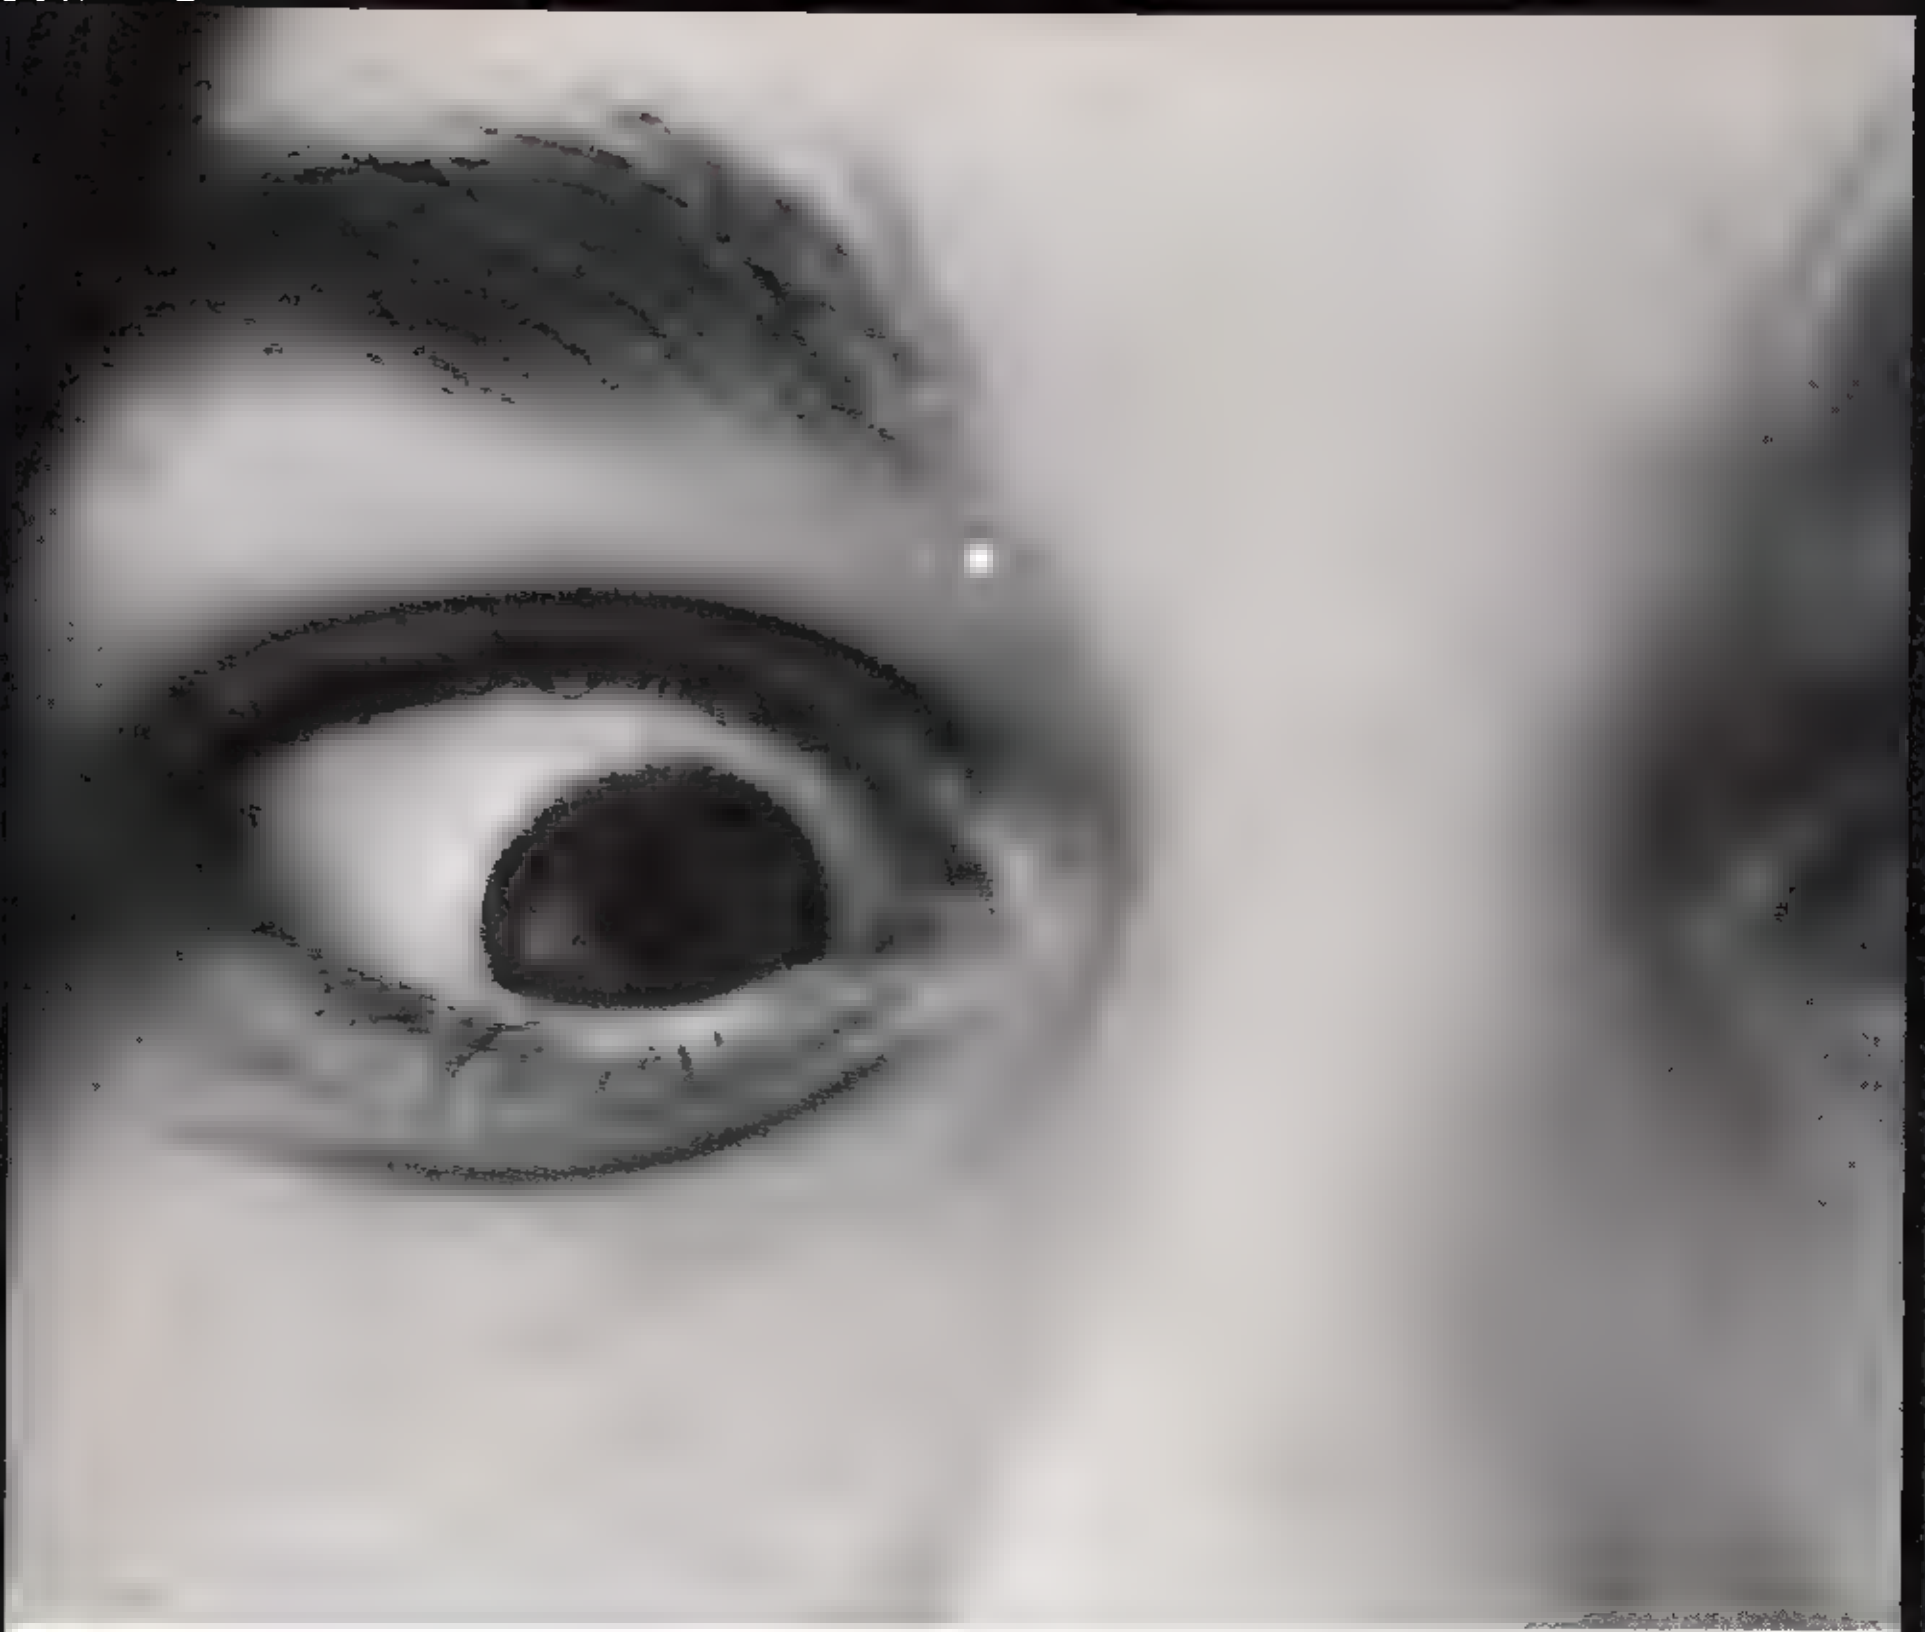

Aid in Comprehension

Tony O'Conner compares his paper with the key.

Mrs. Miller lectures to her class on a topic of interest.

Student Life

Friendships, renewed and lost, are found as you enter your "adjustment years" of high school. High school life can sometimes be quite comical as we suffer through test exams, sometimes (quite accidentally of course!) eyeing another's paper. Or it may be experiencing your first romance and then, hopefully, your last heartache.

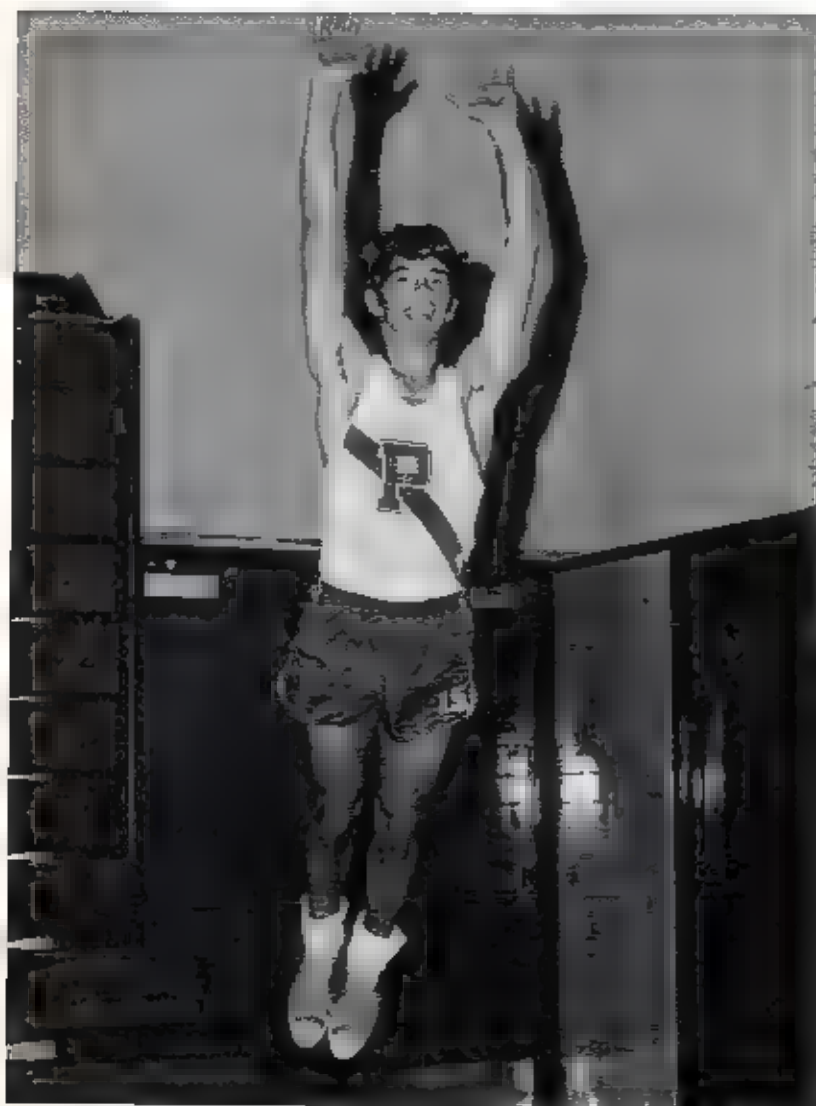

But your "adjustment years" have their serious aspects also. A preparation for your future trade or just a better understanding of yourself and the world around you are realized as you search for your identity through learning and thought.

As your high school years draw to a close you generally are ready to face either going out and getting a job, married life, or pursuing your career. All of these things are what make up your "adjustment years" of high school.

There's always one camel in a crowd

Enjoyment Experienced Through Simple

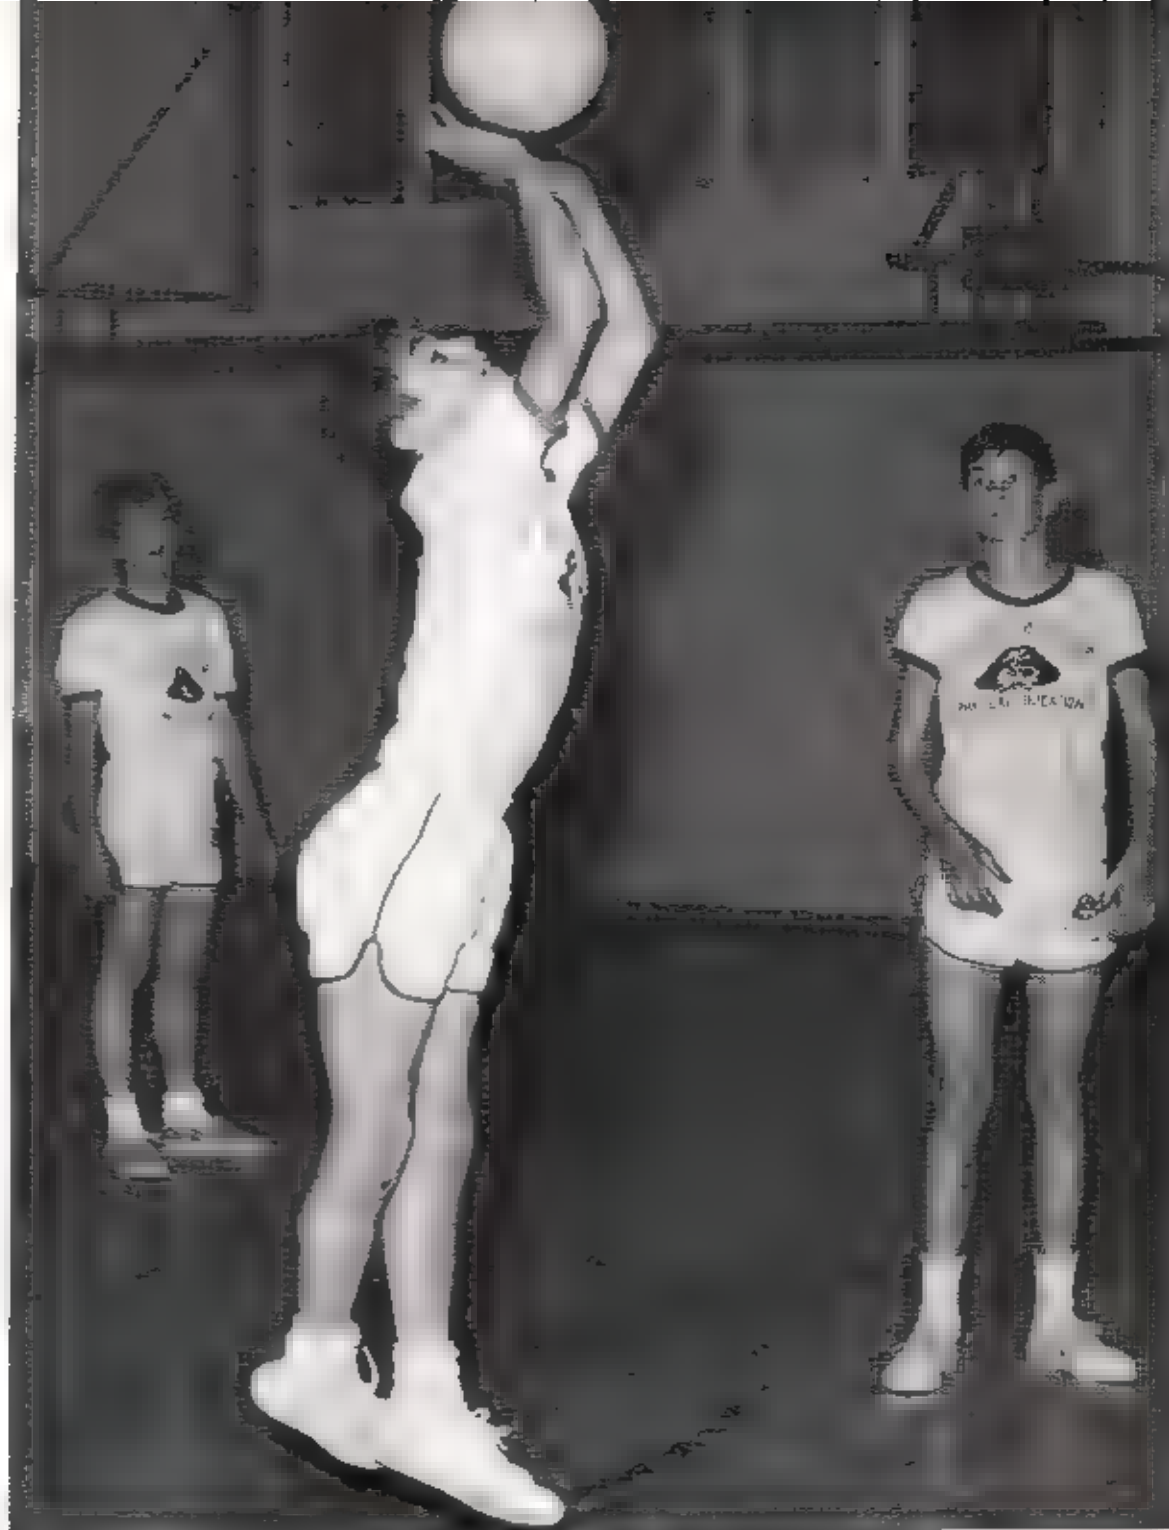

"At least if I don't look like Tarzan, I can act like him"

"Look, it's Snyderley Whiplash!"

Pleasures

"Now just watch me. First you hold the ball like this . . ."

The end of another hard day.

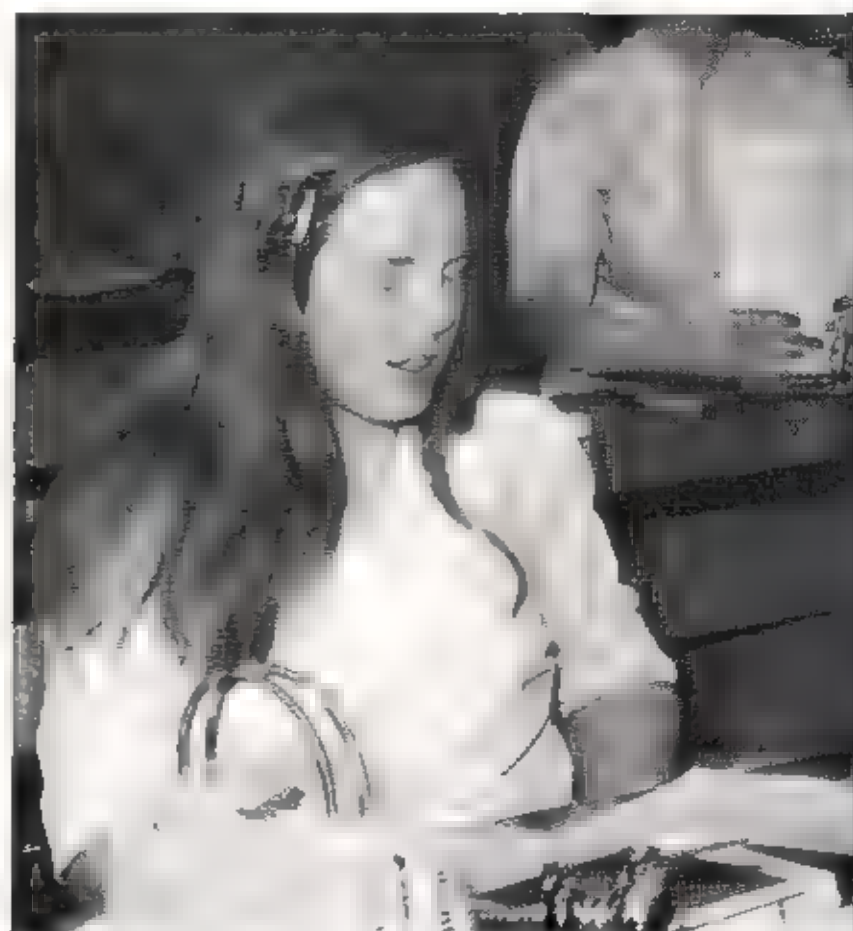

An

Bill Kindred thoroughly enjoys his water break.

"Did you hear what he just said to me?"

"Maybe if I close my eyes it will all go away."

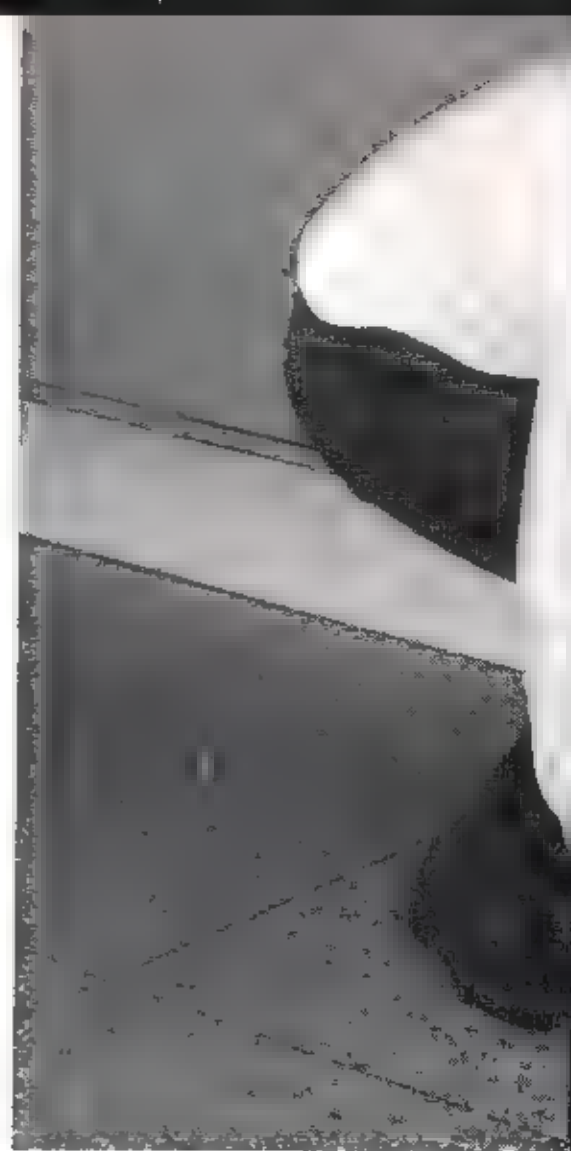

Expression Provokes Thought

Mirror, mirror, on the wall. Who's the fairest of them all?

"An artist's work is just never appreciated!"

"Come in Lunar II "

Small Problems Sometimes Create

Get the spatula!

"I wonder if I crushed my turtle?"

Big Headaches

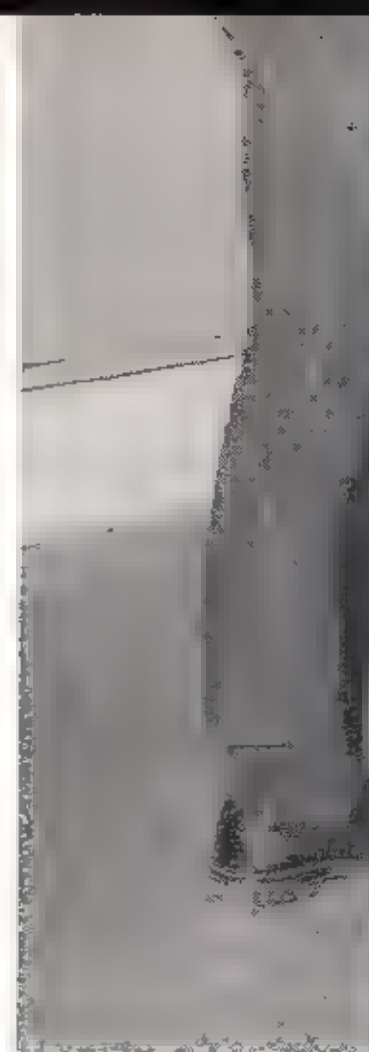

"Peas porridge hot, peas porridge cold. Peas porridge in the pot nine
...."

They always said what goes up, must come down

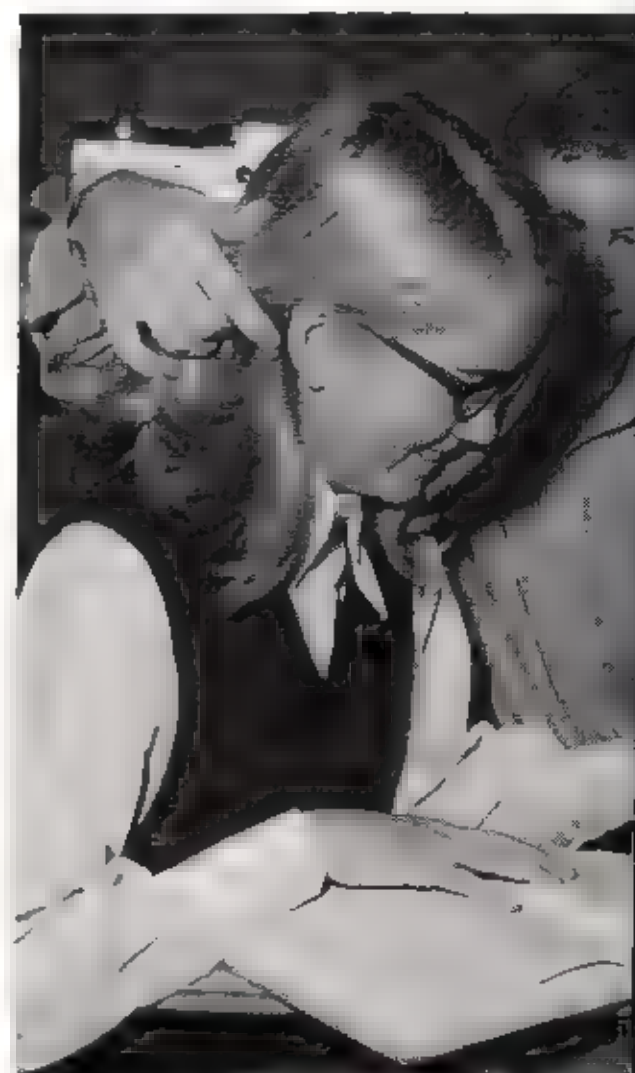

How lively can a group get!

Friendships Offer

"I just knew you'd be here when I got back!"

"Bob, I've had enough of your?"

"Anything else you want done?"

"Don't tell anyone what I heard the other day, but ."

Us Companionship

"Quick! Now, while he isn't looking."

This year the students of Pinckney High are honored to have with them a very nice young man who happens to live in Tarare, France. His name is Florian Goutagneux. Flo, as his friends call him, has five sisters, making him the only son of a high school teacher. He is 18 years old. Flo is giving up his freshman year in college to be with us and is residing at the Valbert Keiser residence. Flo finds Pinckney High "typically American." He enjoys all of the extra activities put on by the school and finds our school spirit, compared with that in France, great! He has taken a real liking to ice skating and swimming and finds that the way we date is quite different.

Flo thinks things are done in a bigger way and they definitely move faster. And though he thinks our way of living is better and we have more fun, he prefers France.

His future plans include attending the Institut Jes Etudes Politiques in Lyon, France, in hopes of working with the State Department later.

Flo!

The Mr. and Miss PHS award is not one of academics or merit, but one judged by friendship and citizenship. The persons receiving the award this year are Laura Whitley and Terry Haines. It was voted on by the members of the Senior class and the faculty. Congratulations to both of you.

Citizenship is an important quality in the choice of Miss P.H.S.

Mr. and Miss P.H.S.

Terry Haines and Laura Whitley are Mr. and Miss P.H.S. for 1970.

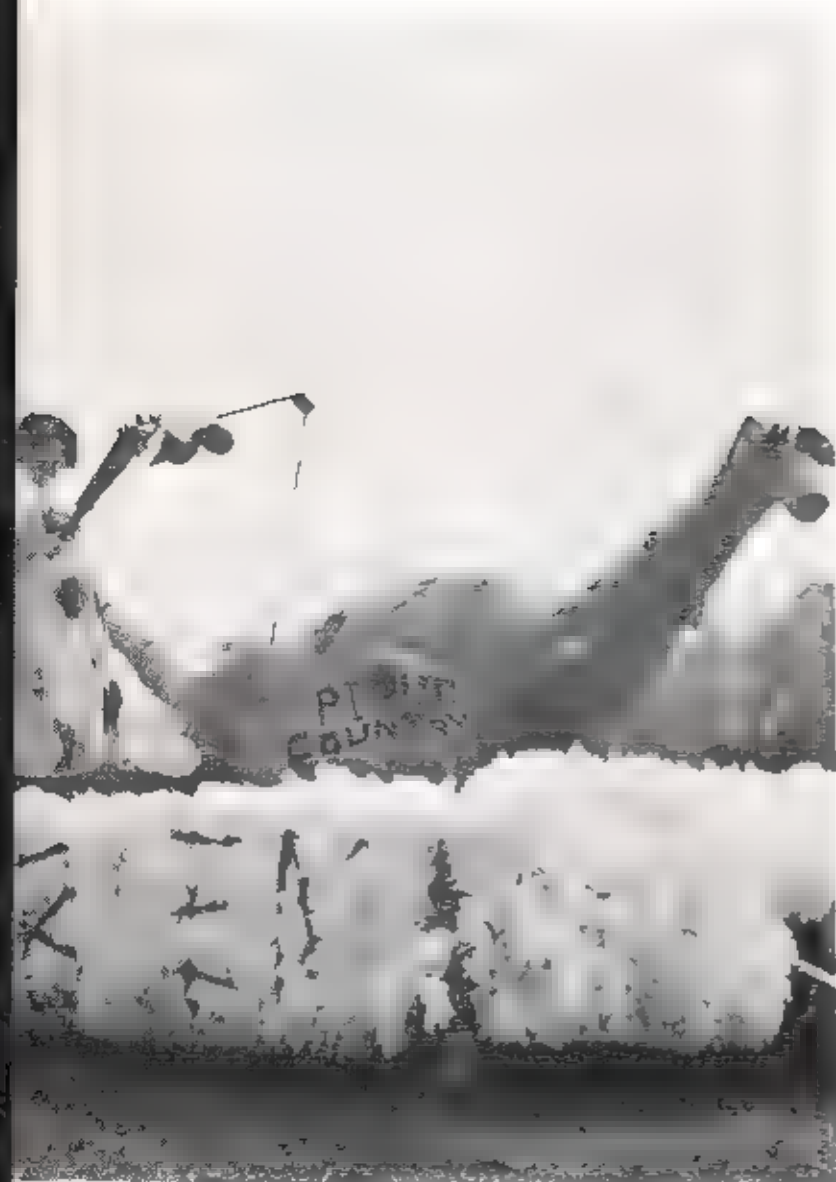

Homecoming

Joy brings on the tears as Sue Bowles is crowned Homecoming queen.

Although the senior float did not win they gave it a good try.

Seniors Lora Ketola, Sue Bowles (queen), Bonnie Speake.

Juniors Colleen O'Dwyer, Elaine LaRosa (queen), Libbi King.

Royalty Reigns

Pirates in Action

The Pinckney Pirates, under Coaches Tom Wilson and John Hand, put forth much work this season. Although no games were won, the competition gave our opponents a tough time.

Co-captains for the year were Bill Reck and Warren Yoder. They deserve recognition for sharing such a heavy responsibility.

In spite of the defeats, the school was still proud of their team.

Touchdown

This year, the Junior Varsity Football team had two wins, over Stockbridge and Bath, and one tie with Williamston.

All the men on the team were dedicated and prepared to sacrifice for each other. They showed much hard work and they had the will to win, even though there were several injuries.

The type of football these young men played indicates there will be more wins in the next few years.

Coaches Nurnberger and Coughlin think that the J.V. is a future football team. They were willing to sacrifice for the team and if the desire and hard work continues, there will be an even brighter future for Pinckney High School.

Go! Fight! Win!

As we look back on the statistics of the 1970 Varsity Basketball season, we can say we've improved over the years.

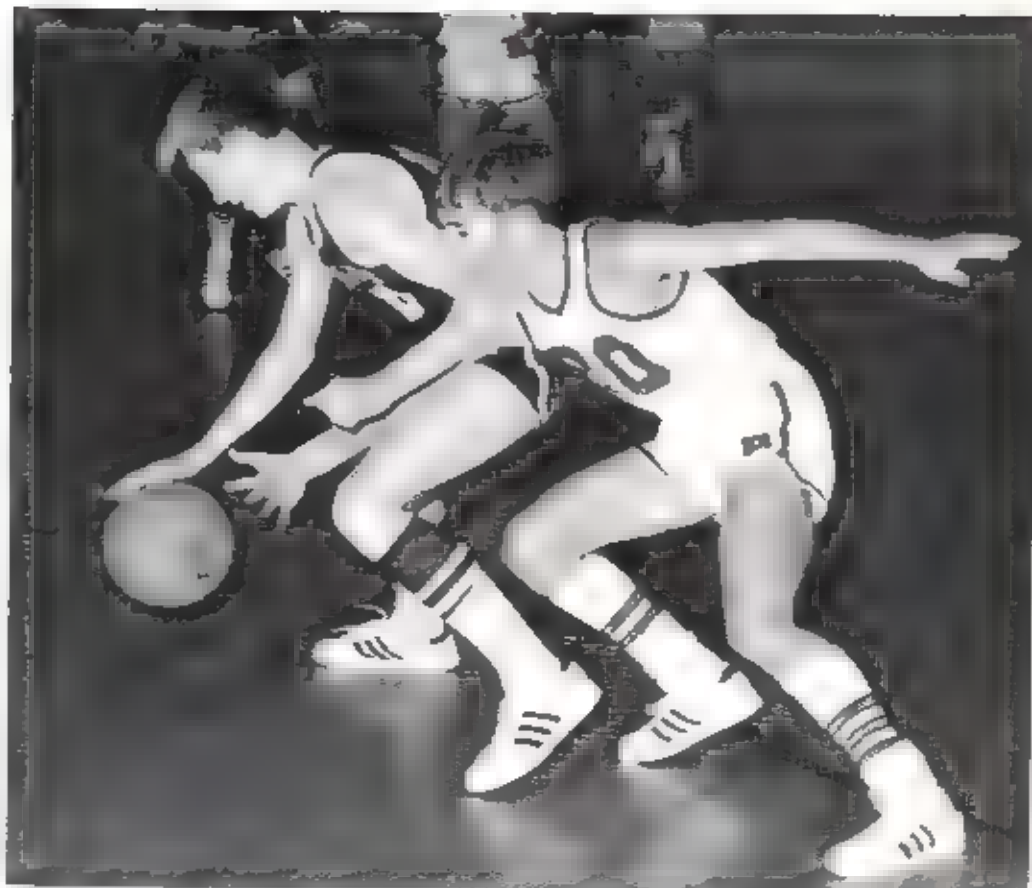

Our victories are attributed to the co-operation, hard work, and the diligence of every man on the team, including Coach Lincoln. His competent leadership and guidance led us on to these victories.

Although we will be losing seniors, Bill Reck and Chuck Lindsay, the years ahead can only get better.

Congratulations and good luck guys!

Get That Ball

Coach Nurnberger tensely watches his team.

Our Junior Varsity team combined effort and desire to give us an exciting season. The individual work of each player contributed to the outcome of the whole team.

Although the losses outnumbered their wins you could tell that many gruelling hours of practice had made them better with each game.

We are sure that these athletes will one day make us a crack basketball team. Good Luck J.V.'s! P H S. is behind you all the way.

Freshman Spirit

The Freshman basketball team is made up of 15 players who have put forth much hard work and practice this year. With that and the guidance of their coach, Mr. Harold Davis, they gave their opponents much competition. Although not many victories were scored, they have shown much sportsmanship. We congratulate you for a fine season.

Harrah P.H.S. ...!

The J.V. Cheerleaders show their skill in a cheerleading formation.

School spirit is something special—it can be seen, felt, and experienced by anyone and everyone! Those people most closely associated with it are a group of girls known as cheerleaders. Their job is very exciting and full of fun, but it is also very demanding of their time, talent, and energy. A cheerleader's main role is to try to instill in the student body a certain pride, loyalty, and spirit for their team and school. The task can be relatively easy when victories are plentiful, but it takes a "special" kind of student body to keep supporting a team that is experiencing an unsuccessful season. Pinckney High School has been praised for its spirit and good sportsmanship—we are all very proud of this reputation! A special "thank-you" belongs to the seventeen young ladies who have helped promote and "lead" this spirit and enthusiasm—the CHEERLEADERS of PINCKNEY HIGH!

Red and Black Fight!

Wrestling basically is an individual sport stressing self-reliance while at the same time, combines a team effort

A wrestler learns to be responsible to his team as well as learning his own capabilities and short comings

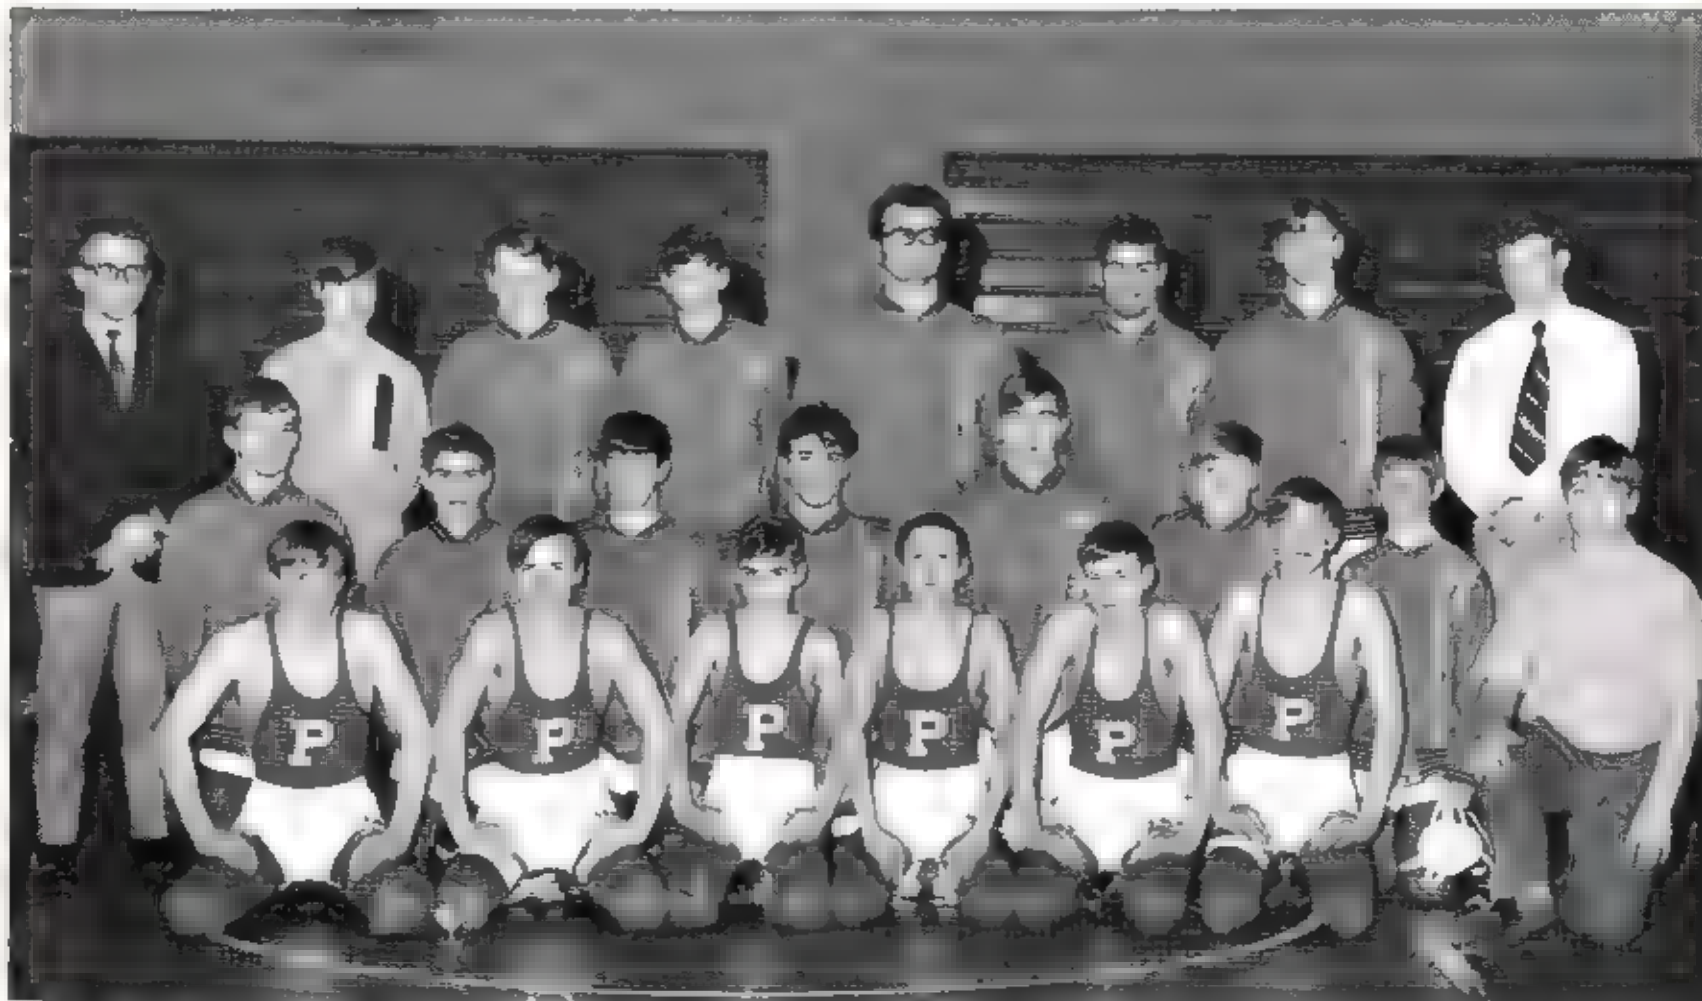

This year Pinckney's wrestling team contains a cross-section of students, from Freshman to Senior level. These students are trained and assisted by a very able man, Coach Hand, and his assistant, Coach Hanson.

The years co-captains are Dennis Urbany and Fred Williams.

Hustle!

The aim of both Track and Cross Country, is to build up character in the athlete, and second, it gives a boy a chance to get rid of any excess energy in a constructive manner.

Track and Cross Country are both individual sports, but they stress team unity. Each boy is on his own during competition. If he does his individual job, he is helping the team.

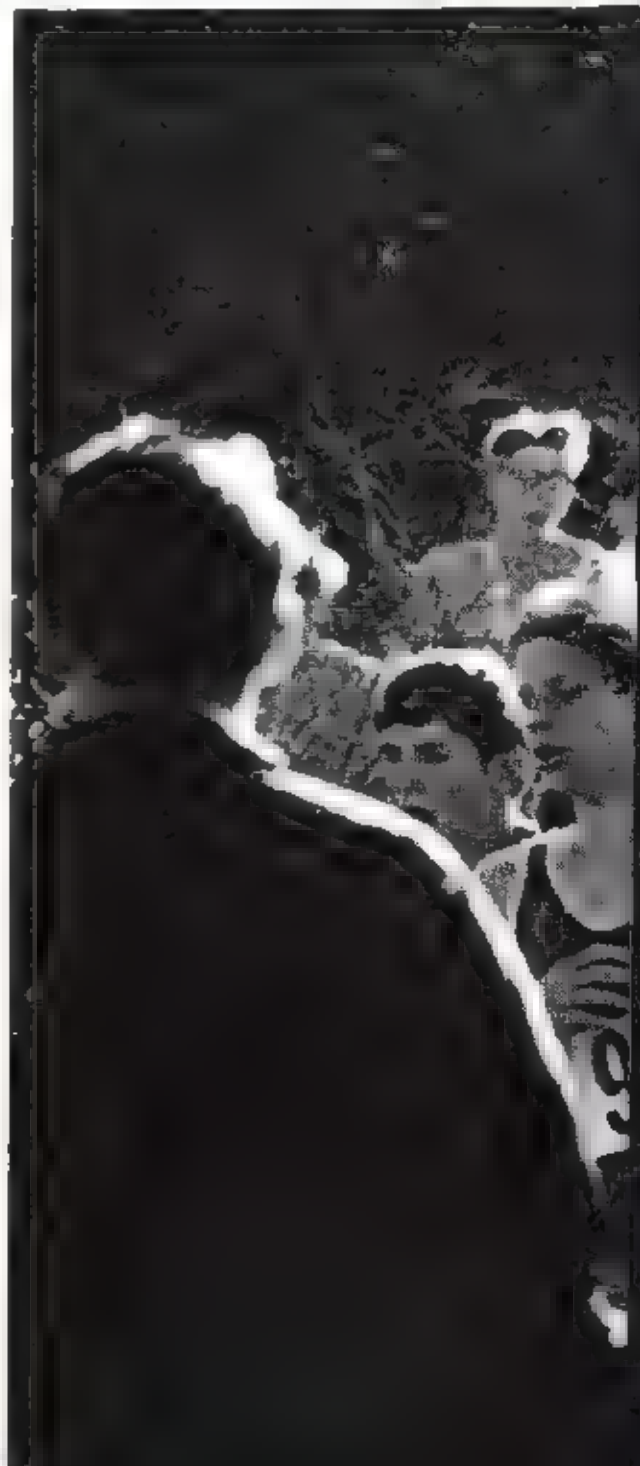

In Track and Cross Country this year, we have eight or ten lettermen. The Coaches, Jim Wicker and Tom Wilson, feel there is no way to go but up. With the fine nucleus we have, as well as other members of a fine Cross Country team, an exciting year of Track and Field we have had.

All the Way Home

As of yet, the baseball season has not yet officially begun, but from the looks of the men going out for the team, it looks like we will have a good year. But this could not be done without the good training from Coach Wesley Reader, and a lot of hard work. When basketball season comes to an end, we'll be ready to go! Good Luck!!

Coach Reader seems prepared for the upcoming Baseball season

We Want a Victory

With the guidance of the Junior Varsity Baseball Coach, Mr. Coughlin, and the hard work of the players on the team, the baseball season of 1970 will be very successful

Contrary to the thoughts of many people, golf is an exciting sport

From the moment you take the first swing, until you tap the ball into the last hole, there are many minutes of excitement, depression and a feeling of success—just as in any other sport

With the careful guidance of Coach John Hand, the players strive to better their swing, drive long off the tee, while they keep a steady motion of the putter.

ORGANIZATIONS

The Care Club, sponsored by Mrs. W. Swarthout, has done much this year to help the under-privileged families of our community. They have brightened the holidays for many with gifts donated by the members of the club.

Care Club gives the student not only the chance to share his experiences with others, but to have the feeling of self-satisfaction.

Mrs. Swarthout plans for Care Club activities.

The National Honor Society is an organization sponsored by Mr. Harold Davis. Members must have a minimum of a B average for four consecutive semesters before becoming eligible. All those involved in this club have scholastic abilities that are above average, good character, and show leadership qualities.

This year, the National Honor Society sponsored the bookstore, and they went on a field trip

G.A.A.

The Girls Athletic Association is sponsored by Miss Elizabeth Basco

G A A gives any girl the chance to use the gym facilities when she would otherwise not have the time.

There have been many events this year such as bowling, roller skating, and the Pajama Party sponsored by G.A.A. members for the F H A.

Future Homemakers

The Future Homemakers of America has been an organization in Pinckney High School for twelve years. There are twenty-five members, along with their sponsor, Mrs. Dickerson.

Throughout the year they have had many group activities. For example, they have gone bowling, roller-skating, and have attended a G.A.A. and F.H.A. pajama party.

The main purpose of the club is to encourage good will in the home as well as in the community.

Varsity Club

Varsity Club meeting.

The purpose of the Varsity Club is to create better school spirit in both the athletes and the student body, and also to produce a pride in our team.

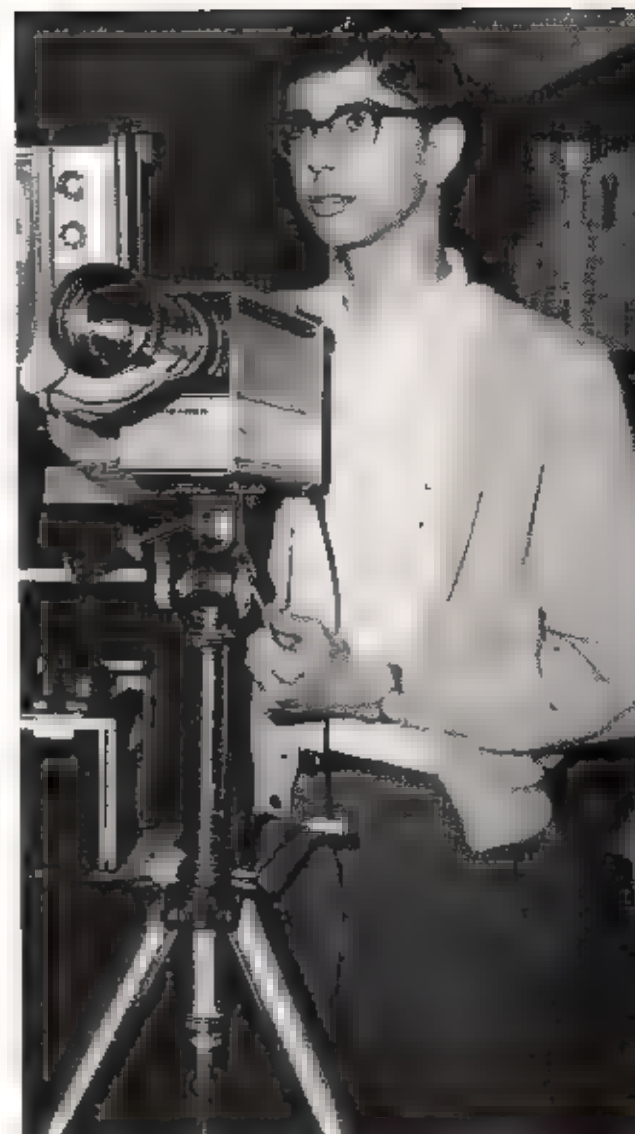

Any boy can gain membership if he has a Varsity letter, goes through initiation, and he is able to maintain good standing not only sport-wise, but also scholastically.

The Varsity Club sponsors activities not only to earn money for themselves, but also to help the Pinckney Athletic Association provide for our school's sport facilities.

The club, sponsored by Mr. John Hand, this year sponsored a dance, and travelled to Detroit to see a basketball game

Audio-Visual is a club for people who have a general interest in machines. It gives the members a chance to learn to run the projectors and other audio-visual equipment, to gain experience and further their mechanical interests.

The club is responsible for the efficient use of the audio-visual equipment used in the classroom

The sponsor, Mr. Richard McCloskey, permits anyone to join who has a general interest in machinery.

The Art Club was created in order to promote any interest that anyone may have in the arts. The club's adviser, Mrs. Maureen Lucas, feels that it is good for any student who has any interest or ability for art to have the chance to express himself.

This year, the Art Club attended art demonstrations and visited many art galleries.

Office Aid

The girls working in the office not only learn practical experience, such as typing, filing, recording, and reporting, but they also learn how to meet and talk to people.

They represent the school in the sense that they meet the public first at the office.

They are neatly dressed, and their smiles help keep the office running smoothly. Their basic duty is to help Mrs. Janowski with the simpler tasks. Truly, they are an efficient service to others.

Library Staff

The student librarians who work in our library, volunteer their time in order to make the library a more smooth running place

Though the library aides have no formal meetings, it seems as if they are always organized, and ready to help a student.

This year, Mrs. Wolf, the sponsor, and the student librarians took a trip to Xerox, University Microfilms, and they attended a SLAAM workshop in the spring. The club sponsored the Paperback Bookstore, located in the library.

The Newspaper Staff is originally a journalism class. The people enrolled in this class, and their teacher, Mrs. Sue Osburn, have taken on the task of putting out a school newspaper

The Pacemaker supplies the students with news of school activities, both past and present. Through the paper, even those students who are not directly involved with the paper, can voice their opinions, and make others aware of them.

This year, the staff published a Senior Book, created to summarize all the activities of the seniors, throughout their four years of high school.

The Pacemaker has kept us well-informed. Great Job!!

Campus "Life" Club

The Campus Life club is one that was created in order to encourage students to have a more balanced life, socially, mentally, and spiritually, as well as physically.

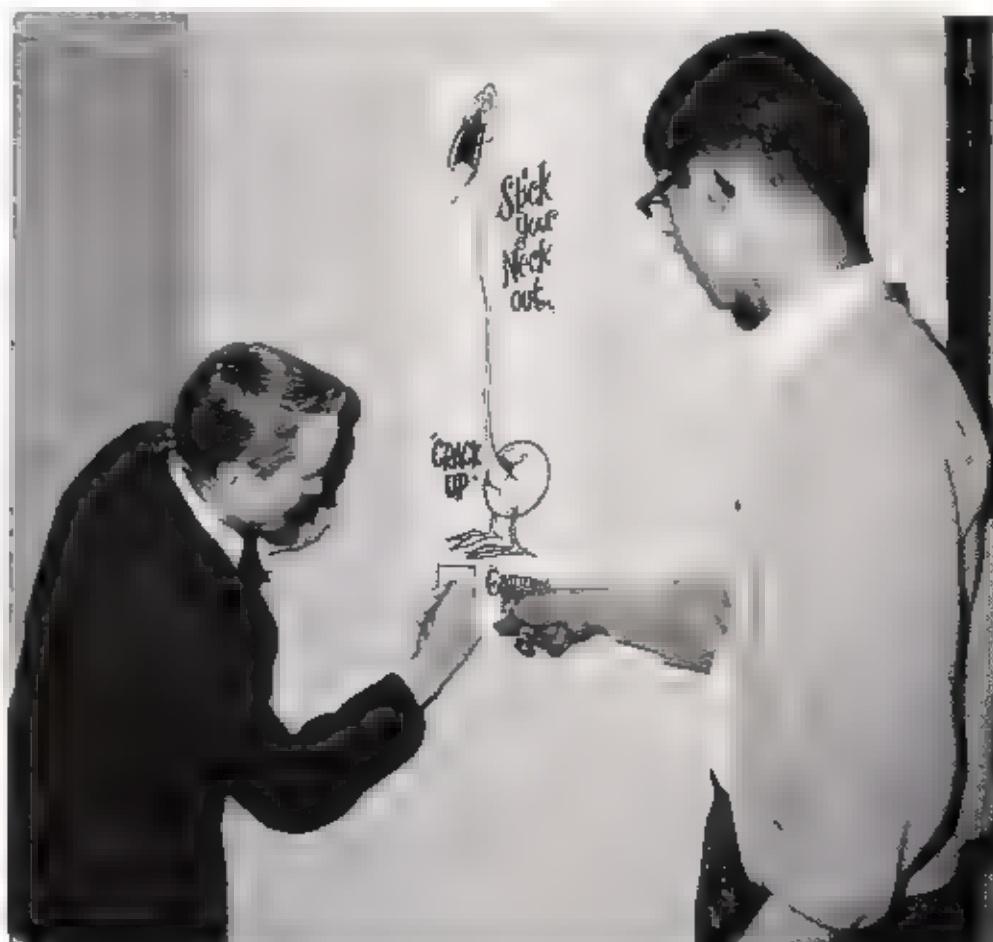

This year, there were many activities which proved to be very successful in recruiting new members. Some of these were, the Manhunt, the Winter Festival, the Wild Goose Chase, and George Washington's Birthday Celebration.

Stan Eash points out to Mr. Wicker when the next meeting will be.

Pep Club

The Pep Club is made up of a group of young people who are trying to spread school spirit!

They have done much under the direction of their sponsor, Tom Wilson, to create a pride in our team and athletes and improve the sportsmanship of everyone.

Ribbons have been sold supporting our Basketball and Wrestling teams this year

The Pep Club has sponsored many extra-curricular activities. A few things they sponsored are, a spring carnival, and a dance with the theme, "When I'm 64."

All in all, everyone feels they've done a good job.

The Pep club, with the aid of Mr. Wilson, add enthusiasm to the student body

We proudly present the PEP CLUB' Officers this year are, Valerie Keiser Pres., Joan Gardner V Pres., Sandy Grant-Reporter, Sherri McNulty-Tres., and Mary Surgenor-Sec.

Yearbook Staff members work diligently to meet their final deadline

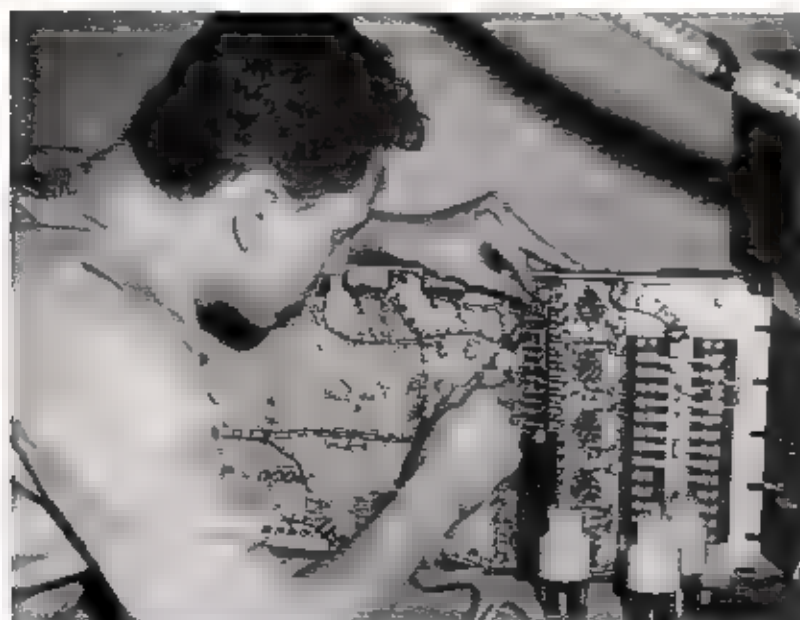

The purpose of this years' Yearbook Staff is, as always, to put out a "book of memories." This year, though, we wanted something special, something different than we've ever had before.

With the help of our adviser, Mr. Wes Hanson, we feel we've done just that. Many hours of hard work and confused weekends were spent preparing the History of '69-'70 for publication.

John Torok works on his radio

Sponsored by Mr. Welton Chamberlain, the Radio Club has this year been very successful.

The purpose of the Radio Club is to encourage a greater number of students to engage in the hobby of radio. The Pinckney High School Radio Club offers young men an opportunity to study radio theory operation and Morse code.

The members are expected to qualify for the F.C.C. license, which permits one to own and operate an amateur radio station.

The club, this year, traveled on a field trip and their Demonstration Day during Michigan Week was a big success.

Ski Club

The recently defunct Ski Club launched with an impressive start, then sunk beneath the hull of apathy. Kaput!!

Because of lack of interest, there were no activities planned for the year. And since there were no activities, the need did not arise for the "club" to sponsor any money making projects.

Better luck next year!

Future Teachers

The Future Teachers of America, sponsored by Mrs. Irene Miller, is a club made up of young people whose future goal is to become a teacher.

Throughout the year, members of the club have been student teaching at the Elementary and Middle Schools. In this way, they have gained the much needed experience and knowledge needed to someday become a good teacher.

Student Council

Sponsor. Mrs. Miller

This year, our Student Council is represented at the Ingham County League Of Student Councils. We joined this group in order to better our relationships with other schools in our vicinity.

The Student Council, sponsored by Mrs. Helen Miller and Mr. Richard McCloskey, has done much to develop a smooth running school, and keep the student-faculty relationship on a harmonious level.

The Student Council has many accomplishments that can be accredited to them. They have put a suggestion box in the library and office, and have done much for the dress code.

All in all, they have represented the student body effectively. Thanks for such fine work!

Editorial

We're finished!! After starting out with a staff of forty and ending up with ten hard workers, two confused co-editors, one tired photographer, and a bewildered adviser, we feel the 1970 yearbook will be a success.

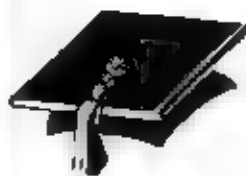

A success to us is when a student congratulates us on our fine work and the staff feels they've earned it.

We feel the staff has earned a pat on the back as many Saturdays and Sundays along with approximately one million hours after school (or so it seemed) were spent putting together the 1970 PIRATE LOG.

We would now, ourselves, like to congratulate the staff and everyone that helped make the 1970 PIRATE LOG possible.

We hope you like it! We do!

Co-Editors,
Ann Read
Kathy Gramer
